CANADIAN SEED GROWERS OPEN BIG CONVENTION HERE

Eminent Leaders of Agricultural Progress of Canada Attend Sessions at Empress Hotel; Mayor Pendray and Hon. E. D. Barrow Extend Civic and Provincial Welcomes

Mayor J. C. Pendray this morning welcomed to Victoria the twenty-sixth annual convention of the Canadian Seed Growers' Association, attended by seventy delegates. He expressed the pleasure of the citizens in welcoming to Victoria men who have made Canada internationally famous.

The Mayor remarked upon the qualifications of Lower Vancouver Island as an ideal seed growing territory, believing the district surrounding Victoria has all the desired characteristics. Explaining the city's facilities for unlimited water supply, the Mayor assured the convention that the City Council is prepared to do much to aid in development of the profitable seed-growing industry.

PROVINCIAL WELCOME

Hon. E. D. Barrow, Minister of Agriculture, extended a Provincial Government welcome to the first visit of the Canadian Seed Growers to British Columbia. "We believe we can produce in British Columbia as good a quality of seed as anywhere, and in larger variety," he said.

The Minister touched on the excellence of British Columbia bulbs, while Timothy Seed grown in the Bulkley Valley had been the finest in the world. "The time has come, I believe, for British Columbia farmers to compete in quality of seed with the prairie provinces. I do not refer to quantity, but in quality I believe this to be possible," he said.

Hon. Mr. Barrow forecast heavy exports of red clover seed from British Columbia this year. He recalled that hitherto the Dominion has not been able to produce sufficient clover seed to meet demands, and importation from Italy and other southern areas had not proven sufficiently hardy to withstand northern conditions.

Letters of regret at inability to attend the convention were read by President Strange from Hon. W. R. Motherwell, Federal Minister of Agriculture; Honorary President Dr. J. W. Robertson and Dr. C. A. Zavitz of Guelph, Ont.

MANY LEADERS ATTENDING

President Strange introduced business with an invitation to all British Columbia seed growers to obtain access to the mass of information made available by the Seed Growers' Association. "We have brought here men expert in all branches of seed growing. If you do not gain much valuable data from the proceedings at this convention, it will be your own fault and due to failure to ask questions these gentlemen are most anxious to meet," he said.

U.S. Coastguard Craft Hunt For Vessel Off Coast of California

San Francisco, June 13.—United States coastguard officials here today detailed all available cutters for scout duty in the hope of sighting the steamer Malahat, which cleared from Puget Sound, B.C., March 22.

Coastguardmen said the Malahat was sighted 1,000 miles off the California coast about the middle of April, and since a sudden increase in rumormongering was detected last week, the officials deem it wise to keep a close watch on the steamer.

SIR GEORGE FOSTER WILL BE DIAMOND JUBILEE SPEAKER

Canada's Representative at Geneva Assembly to Speak Here July 1

Senator Sir George Foster, Dean of Canadian politics, and former Minister of Trade and Commerce, will be the chief speaker on the Greater Victoria Diamond Jubilee programme. It was announced by the executive committee today.

Sir George Foster, who was Canada's representative at Geneva at the Assembly of the League of Nations, has accepted the invitation of the Diamond Jubilee committee to speak in this city on July 1. Lady Foster will accompany him if she has recovered from her indisposition in time to travel.

Sir George will visit interior B.C. points within the next few weeks, coming to Victoria on or before July 1, in response to an invitation sent out by Reginald Hayward, M.P.P., chairman of the executive committee.

Tickets for every phase of the Diamond Jubilee programme went on sale this morning. Maj.-Gen. J. Duncan Visits Hsuan Tung

London, June 13.—Major-General John Duncan, in command of the British forces in China, says a Tientsin dispatch to the London Daily Mail, visited yesterday the former "Boy Emperor" of China, Hsuan Tung, at his residence in the Japanese concession in Tientsin. He was accompanied by his aide, Viscount Gort. The visit is described as an informal one.

Hsuan Tung, last of the Manchu dynasty, was two years old when he was proclaimed successor to the throne of his uncle, Emperor Kuang Hsu, who died childless in 1908.

Until he was forced to abdicate in 1912 by the revolution, he was the nominal head of the Empire, being known as the "Boy Emperor."

PASTOR WENT TO CHURCH IN PLANE

Rev. J. C. Goodfellow of Victoria Flew From Vancouver to Powell River

Vancouver, June 13.—A "sky pilot" who literally lived up to the nickname made his appearance in Powell River early Sunday morning. He was Rev. John C. Goodfellow of Victoria, who traveled from Vancouver to Powell River by aeroplane to keep an engagement to conduct a service in that city.

The minister was scheduled to preach at St. John's United Church at 11 a.m. in Powell River, but missed the steamer from Vancouver on Saturday night. Learning there was no other way of reaching the paper mill town in time, he wired he would be unable to conduct the service.

On investigation, however, he found the trip could be made by seaplane. He immediately telegraphed he would keep the appointment.

At 8 a.m. Sunday Mr. Goodfellow climbed aboard the Pacific Airways seaplane with Major D. R. MacLaurin at Jericho Beach, and at 9.30 a.m. landed at Powell River.

WEATHER TO HALT RISE OF FRASER

No Need For Alarm, Officials Declare on Reading River Gauges

Level of Stream Well Below High Water Mark and Height of 1894

Cool weather will halt the rise of the Fraser River, which has been causing alarm in many districts, officials of the Government, who have been observing the stream, declared today.

The river has not reached normal high water mark yet, and is still far below the danger point, according to latest figures on official gauges. Unless a spell of hot weather should occur suddenly and be continued, the run-off now under way will proceed normally, it is believed.

BELOW HIGH LEVEL

The gauge at Sumas Pumping Station today registered 92, which is ten feet below the level of 1894, the year of highest recorded water. The river would have to rise several feet yet before it reached the normal high water mark.

The Thompson River, chief tributary of the Fraser, is still far below normal high water. At Spences Bridge it was reported today as eight feet lower than this mark and 18.4 feet below the flood level of 1894.

"Had warm weather continued there might have been trouble along the Fraser," said Hon. E. D. Barrow, Minister of Agriculture, on his return here today from the Fraser Valley. "With the present cool weather checking the melting of snow the run-off should be quite normal."

SETTLERS COME TO RANCH IN B.C.

Fifteen Families From Europe Take up Farming in Okanagan Valley

Vernon, B.C., June 13.—Fifteen families from Europe, comprising forty-six souls, accompanied by G. H. Parker, inspector of the Canada Colonization Association, arrived here this morning over the Canadian Pacific Railway and received a hearty welcome from the Vernon Board of Trade and agriculturists of the district. They will settle on the Thomas Bulman Ranch here, which has been purchased for them through the aid of the Canada Colonization Association, the price being in excess of $100,000.

Mr. Parker reports ten additional families will follow at once and that the movement will reach large proportions if this settlement, which is the first to be formed in British Columbia by the association, is successful.

The Bulman Ranch is one of the best known in the Okanagan Valley, being over 3,500 acres in extent.

MEDALS ARE GIVEN FOR CONFEDERATION ESSAYS

Montreal, June 13.—The commission of studies of the University of Montreal has placed at the disposal of the faculty of letters, three medals, gold, silver and bronze. These prizes are offered by the committee of sixtieth anniversary of Confederation for an open competition on the history of Canada.

The faculty of letters announces the subject of the essay to be: "The growth of Canada's political liberties from the conquest of 1760 to our present status."

Manuscripts, either in English or in French, must be in the hands of the secretary of the faculty before November 1 and the prizes will be awarded before December 31.

BYRD'S PLANE PREPARED FOR ATLANTIC FLIGHT

Above is a picture of the tri-motored Fokker monoplane America, in which Commander Richard E. Byrd and Bert Acosta hope to make a non-stop flight this week from New York to Paris. Byrd piloted the first and thus far the only aeroplane that ever flew over the North Pole.

New York, June 13.—While New York was welcoming one flier back from Europe to-day, another flier, Commander Richard E. Byrd, was making near-final preparations for another flight, which, he said, like Lindbergh's feat, would be to Paris. Mechanics at the hangar at Mitchell Field hinted the hope-off might be made Wednesday.

The America, tri-motored plane, was to be put through a final ratio test today, which would make the craft ready for flight except for loading. Emergency supplies are already on board.

OVER 100 SUSPECTS QUESTIONED AFTER WINNIPEG MURDERS

Southern Manitoba Searched For Man Who Killed Woman and Girl

Winnipeg, June 13.—A contingent of United States police officers who reached Winnipeg to-day from the annual convention of the International Police Chiefs' Association in Windsor, Ont., abandoned their programme of entertainment to join Manitoba detectives in a province-wide search for the "hobo strangler" who murdered two Winnipeg women within a period of forty-eight hours and concealed each body under a bed.

The slayer, who is reported to be wanted in a score of cities across the border for similar crimes, is believed to be hiding somewhere in the southern part of Manitoba and heading for the United States. Posses of police officers armed with sawed-off shotguns, tear gas and rifles were scouring the countryside to-day while the best brains of the police departments of several United States cities were concentrated upon the solution of the most ghastly, brutal crimes in the history of this city and the province.

SUSPECTS QUESTIONED

More than 100 suspects were rounded up in Winnipeg this morning, but three or four being released later. Almost every rooming house in Winnipeg and the suburbs also had been searched and warnings have been broadcast by radio and through the press against the commission of any stranger into homes where women are alone.

MARRIED IN ROME; SENATOR W. MARCONI

Rome, June 13.—The marriage of Senator William Marconi, of wireless fame, and Countess Maria Christina Desil-Seali, young and beautiful member of an old Roman family of the Papal aristocracy, was celebrated Saturday with great pomp and splendor. The Capitol, where warriors and poets in former days were crowned, assumed its ancient aspect in honor of Marconi, whom Italy considers her greatest scientist.

The bridal couple were received with military honors. They passed into a gorgeous hall draped with red damask with golden fringe, where Prince Polensani, Governor of Rome, performed the civil marriage.

PINEDO SEAPLANE REACHES BARCELONA

Four-continent Fliers to Call on King Alfonso in Madrid Before Leaving Spain

Barcelona, Spain, June 13.—Commander Francesco de Pinedo, Italian aviator, and his companions arrived here in their seaplane to-day from Lisbon, in continuation of their four-continent flight.

Lisbon, June 13.—Commander de Pinedo, Italian long distance aviator and his companions, took off from Lisbon at 8.30 o'clock this morning in their seaplane for a hop to Barcelona, Spain. From there they will go to Madrid to make a courtesy call on King Alfonso, and then fly to Rome, completing their four-continent flight that took them across the Atlantic twice.

Before making for Barcelona, the air-men flew over the Tagus River, dropping a wreath over the spot where a Portuguese aviator fell and was drowned last Tuesday.

Two Portuguese hydroaeroplanes escorted the plane down the river. On Saturday night Pinedo was entertained by the Government at a banquet at which the Italian Minister was present. The Minister of Foreign Affairs bestowed the Cross of Santiago on him.

COMMUNISTS GAIN GROUND IN FRANCE

In Aube By-election Government Candidate Had Lead of Only 3,121 Votes

Paris, June 13.—Although a government candidate defeated a communist in a by-election for the Chamber of Deputies held in the department of Aube yesterday, the margin of victory was so small as to arouse a great deal of comment. The candidate, sponsored by Premier Poincaré, received 28,150 votes, while the communist polled 25,037.

Newspapers supporting the parties of the right say that number of communist votes in a voting strength of 67,512 in an agricultural district is somewhat alarming. The opposition newspapers declare a coalition of all other parties was necessary to defeat the communists.

EUROPE-INDIA AEROPLANE RACE FEATURES WEEK

Carr and MacWorth, Britishers, and D'Oisy and Gönin, Frenchmen, Are Competitors; Non-stop Journey Is Plan of Each Pilot; One Day's Head Start for French Aviators

London, June 13.—There are prospects of an exciting non-stop aeroplane race to India in the next few days in which efforts will be made to beat Lindbergh's and Chamberlin's distance records. The competitors will be the British flight lieutenants—H. Carr, and Lient. P. H. MacWorth, and the French aviators, Captain Pelletier d'Oisy and M. Gönin.

Carr, on previous Indian flight, was forced down in the Persian Gulf May 27 last.

The Frenchmen will have a start of one day. They are scheduled to take off at Le Bourget for Karachi, a distance of 4,400 miles, while tomorrow Carr and MacWorth will start for a 5,000-mile flight to "somewhere in India."

The British machine, tried yesterday, was found to be in excellent order and capable of 135 miles an hour. The British start will probably be from Cranwell, Lincolnshire, Tuesday morning.

DAUDET, AFTER SIEGE, SURRENDERED TO-DAY TO POLICE OF PARIS

Royalist Leader Held Off Squads of Armed Men For Three Days

Paris, June 13.—After three days of entrenched defiance of the authorities, Leon Daudet, Royalist leader, under sentence for libelling a taxicab driver in connection with the death of his son Philippe several years ago, surrendered to the army of policemen and firemen surrounding the building this morning. He had been holding out against the authorities from behind a barred wire screen set up about the office of his newspaper, L'Action Française.

Prefect Chalmers, called on the scene this morning, and with hundreds of police in front of the building and fire ladders ready to be manned against the upper windows, advanced under the balcony where Daudet had been appearing frequently to acknowledge friends and cheer his supporters.

"In the name of the blood that you mourn," said the prefect, "will you allow more French blood to be spilled?"

COALITION CABINET IN IRISH FREE STATE

Fusion Ministry Foreseen as Result of Dail Eireann General Election

Dublin, June 13.—Returns from last week's Dail Eireann general election in the Irish Free State at 3 o'clock this afternoon showed the Government party trailing by one seat the Fianna Fail, the Valera wing among the Republicans.

At that hour, with 108 of the 152 constituencies filled, the count was: Fianna Fail 53; Government 52; Labor 19; National League 5; Farmers 7; Independents 9 and Sinn Fein 2.

Dublin, June 13.—Results in ninety-four out of 152 constituencies in the Irish Free State given out this morning show the government and the Fianna Fail party of Eamon de Valera each secured twenty seats in the Dail Eireann general election of last Thursday. The Laborites elected sixteen candidates, the Independents eight, the Farmers two, the National League five and the Sinn Feiners two.

It is unsafe to predict this proportion will hold when all the results are known, especially as there is nothing to indicate how the voting went in the western counties.

As the supporters of Valera made denunciation of the constitution based on the Anglo-Irish treaty creating the Free State a paramount question in their campaign, they face defeat on this point on the basis of known results.

All parties, except the Fianna Fail and the Sinn Fein, support the Government on the constitution notwithstanding differences on other questions.

Thirty-five war veterans have been summoned to appear before the Federal Appeal Board, which opened its sittings in Victoria this morning. The board comprising C. B. Reilly, K.C., Dr. B. L. Wickware and Dr. H. A. Bowie, has just completed sittings in Vancouver. After the sitting here they will move to Kamloops.

Gerald H. Sedger, soldier advocate, appears for thirty-five applicants, who come from all parts of Vancouver Island. The cases include claims for widows' and pension allowances, because of men refusing treatment and disputes generally on pensions.

Death Sentence For Kowceda in Warsaw Expected

Warsaw, June 13.—An official inquiry into the assassination in Warsaw last week of Peter Volkoff, Soviet Minister to Poland, has been completed. It was decided the assassin, a young Russian monarchist student, Boris Kowceda, should be placed on trial quickly before a special court.

The general opinion is he will be sentenced to death.

Details of the tragedy were told only meagrely in a wireless dispatch from the vessel rescued to-day. When Mrs. Traynor fell overboard, her husband, Alister Gilchrist, and John M. Isaac immediately jumped into the sea to rescue her, but because of the liner's speed they were soon far apart.

Before a boat could be launched for the vessel put about, all had disappeared.

Mrs. Traynor had planned to visit her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Rodgers, living at Kirkintilloch, Dumfriesshire.

OLD-FASHIONED MANGLE NEEDED AT SOLARIUM

An urgent appeal for an old-fashioned English hand-mangle was expressed at the monthly meeting of the Ladies' Auxiliary to the Queen Alexandra Solarium on Friday afternoon, and anyone having such a gift is asked to communicate with the Solarium office, Government Street, or with Mrs. W. Peden, treasurer, Mrs. Mason Rurley, president at the meeting in the absence of the president, Mrs. Beveridge. Miss Willis of the Solarium staff was present and gave a most interesting account of the progress of the patients and matters of general interest. She also reported that all patients were making satisfactory progress. She stated forty-four beds are now up, thirty-six being occupied. A splendid gift of furniture had been received for the nurses' sitting room, which was most acceptable.

Some dissatisfaction is felt among the parents that children of school age are not allowed to visit at the Solarium. This precaution is being taken in order that the little patients may be fully protected against sickness, which may be carried in this manner.

spirits of the children; all being very happy. Miss Ravenhill suggested that the traveling library for the nurses might be a welcome addition. Miss Dashwood will make arrangements with the Department of Agriculture. As there is so little accommodation for storage at present, the public is kindly asked to refrain from sending further contributions of toys, newspapers, linen, etc., as no more are needed for the present.

A letter from Miss Stone of the Solarium staff was read, telling of the uses which had been made of some of the money collected by the W.A. through Mrs. Gale, convener of that committee of "gifts in kind," from the Women's Institutes of British Columbia. Some of the money had been used to purchase fruit, etc. The Women's Institutes of British Columbia have been most generous in their gifts and a list of the donors will be published shortly. The treasurer, Mrs. Peden, gave an itemized report. Many other matters of business were dealt with.

HORTENSE CARTIER RETURNS TO CANADA

Daughter of Father of Confederation Arrives From France For Celebration

Montreal, June 12.—One of the few immediate family links that survive between the present day and the years when the Confederation of Canada was still a vision of provincial statesmen became more personal to Canadians Sunday evening when Mrs. Hortense Cartier, seventy-eight years old, the only living daughter of Sir George Cartier, one of the Fathers of Confederation, arrived in Montreal on board the White Star liner Megantic to attend the celebrations in connection with the Diamond Jubilee of the Dominion.

Mlle. Cartier, who has made her home for many years in the Riviera in the south of France, displayed a remarkable knowledge of Canadian political and domestic affairs, despite the fact that she has revisited Canada only once previously in the last half-century. This was to attend the centenary celebrations in honor of her father.

Sir George Cartier married Mlle. Hortense Fabre, daughter of a leading merchant, sometime Mayor of Montreal, whose two brothers both obtained high honors, one as Archbishop of Montreal, the second, M. Hector Fabre, in political life and as Agent-General of Canada in France. Lady Cartier died in 1898. Three children were the fruit of the union. Victoria, who died in infancy; Josephine and Hortense.

Hortense, the youngest, born in 1849, shares in the accomplishments and graces of the family. During the ceremonies consequent on the Cartier Centennial in 1919, she was the guest of the nation, and took a prominent part in the proceedings. She was greatly impressed, after her absence from Canada, with the evidence of progress, and, at the unveiling of the great national memorial and statue erected in honor of her father at the foot of Mount Royal, spoke briefly but forcibly, closing as follows: "When I see the ever-increasing prosperity of Canada I feel proud and happy to think it is largely due to my father's great abilities and untiring activities. This prosperity of Canada 'son pays, mes armures,' we all know he clearly foresaw. Heaven be praised for having spared me and enabled me to witness this event."

Diet May Bring Cure To Epilepsy Sufferers

By DR. MORRIS FISHBEIN

Since the ancient first described with fear and horror the symptoms of the falling sickness, as the disease was commonly known, a specific cause for epilepsy has been sought without avail by scientists throughout the world. Practically every method of medical treatment ever developed has been tried, with reported good results in some instances but with general failure—a state of affairs which indicates that the specific cause and a definite method of treatment based upon the cause have not yet been determined. Numerous attempts have been made to modify the symptoms of this condition by changes in the diet, varying from complete starvation to the use of special diets overloaded with certain types of food.

Dr. Fritz B. Talbot, Kenneth M. Metcalf and Margaret E. Moriarty of the department of diseases of children in Harvard University Medical School have been making investigations to determine the part played by a diet pecially high in fats and low in sugars. This produces a state known as ketosis, in which certain substances resulting from the chemical changes of such a diet appear in the excretions.

The diet must be watched, since an excessive amount of these substances is likely to produce serious symptoms. During the progress of treatment by this method, samples of blood are taken regularly and tested for the presence of the substances concerned.

Tests are also made of the basal metabolism in order to determine how rapidly the body changes are taking place. When there is an excess of acetone in the excretions or when it is determined in excessive amounts in the breath or in the blood, the addition of sugar to the diet will cause it to disappear rapidly.

It was found that when the diets were discontinued the attacks of convulsions recur. The authorities of the department of diseases of children in Harvard University Medical School were so optimistic as to say, "The production of a ketosis by diet gives the greatest promise of improvement of any method as yet devised in the treatment of epilepsy of childhood."

The gardens are unusually beautiful and will well repay a visit. The illustration depicts the new "6100" class locomotive, the latest production of the mechanical department of the Canadian National Railways. Forty of these "Northern Type" engines have been manufactured in Canadian plants for use of main line fast passenger and manifest freight service. They are 98 feet 10 1/2 inches over all. The tender has a capacity of 11,300 imperial gallons of water and 20 tons of coal. In working order the total weight of engine and tender is 658,000 pounds. Note the new position of the whistle, located on the left hand of the smoke box near the stack. This is to save the driver's ears. These engines are designed for power at speed and it is estimated that they can make 90 miles an hour with a heavy train.

MUNICIPAL UNION PLAN IS DISCUSSED

June 25 Suggested as Date For Plebiscites in Greater Vancouver Area

Vancouver, June 12.—To-day's meeting of the councils of Vancouver, Point Grey and South Vancouver will be a busy one in respect of the future of the amalgamation of the three municipalities. Recent joint committee meetings have fairly and satisfactorily cleared away outstanding differences of opinion and it is expected all three councils to-day will make arrangements for holding plebiscites on June 25 for the ratepayers to pass upon the proposed basis of amalgamation.

Action by Vancouver and South Vancouver is regarded as practically certain, but there is some doubt as to what view may be taken by the Point Grey council. Some members of that body have been opposed to so early a date for the vote.

Reeve J. A. Paton said it was difficult to forecast the attitude of the Point Grey council on the June 25 plebiscite. Personally he felt the date was a trifle early in view of the general understanding that about a month's time after complete agreement was reached should be allowed to elapse for the people to study the basis of amalgamation before the vote should be taken.

He expressed doubt the Vancouver city council would endorse the ward plan agreed to at the conference, as the majority of the city council at the conference had voted against it there. Until the agreement was complete, Reeve Paton questioned the wisdom of holding a plebiscite.

Provision is expected to be made at to-day's Vancouver city council meeting for the holding of a plebiscite on the construction of a main thoroughfare road across Stanley Park for use as an approach to the Lion's Gate bridge. It has been suggested that the ratepayers should vote on the same day as the amalgamation plebiscite, June 25.

Children Took First Communion At St. Andrew's

Trinity Sunday was observed at St. Andrew's Cathedral yesterday by the celebration of the First Communion of a large class of little children, for the most part pupils of St. Ann's Kindergarten, with some from St. Ann's Academy and St. Louis College. The special children's mass at 9:30 was chosen for the ceremony, the beauty of which was greatly enhanced by the devotional singing of the choir of St. Ann's Academy, and the floral decorations of the altar, which were lighted with many candles. Rev. Father C. E. Evans was the celebrant of the Mass and also addressed the children in simple, beautiful language, and questioned them on the principal articles of faith.

When the hour for Holy Communion approached the gates of the chancel were opened by two little acolytes in scarlet cassocks and white surplices, who came down the steps bearing lighted candles and escorted the procession of children into the sanctuary. The little girls in their white dresses and wearing white veils and wreaths of natural flowers made a pretty picture, walking slowly from the left of the church, to meet the little boys from the right, at the foot of the altar steps. After the ceremonies were over the ladies of the Altar Society received the children in the Knights of Columbus Hall where, at dainty little tables gay with blue and white Canterbury bells, a delicious breakfast was set forth, each child finding also at his or her place a pretty medal as a souvenir of the day. Rev. Father Silver and Rev. Father Evans were honored guests, and Sister Superior and some of the staff of St. Ann's Academy were also present. A happy tribute of appreciation was paid to Sister Mary Magdalene of St. Ann's Kindergarten.

Mrs. W. W. Baines, president of the Altar Society, assisted by Miss Madigan, Mrs. Doyle, Miss Dixon, and Mrs. Carvin, were responsible for the charming arrangements.

COLLEGE FACULTY HONORS DR. PAUL

Members of the faculty of Victoria College and their friends gathered at the home of Mrs. Sanderson-Mongin, Laurel Lane, Saturday night and, under Professor F. H. Elliott, new head of the college, made a presentation to Dr. Edward B. Paul, on his retirement from the principalship of the college. Professor Elliott spoke of the wonderful qualifications which had won Dr. Paul such a high place in educational circles as well as in the esteem of his friends.

The address was read by Miss Jeanette Cann, who, on behalf of the staff, presented Dr. Paul with a Japanese carved ivory figure and a pipe.

Dr. Paul, in his reply, said he wanted to pay tribute to the loyal support he had received from the members of the faculty and also to express his thanks to all those who have sent messages or had other kind things to say on his retirement.

GEORGE E. PATTERSON DIED IN CALIFORNIA

Former Ontario Man Built World's First Electric Street Car

St. Catharines, Ont., June 13.—George E. Patterson, builder of the first electric street car operated in the world, died yesterday in Pasadena, California, according to word received in this city to-day. In 1874 he established a carriage building business in St. Catharines and later constructed street cars, the firm being known as Patterson & Corbin. It was one of his street cars converted into an electric car, that was operated in 1887 between St. Catharines and Thorold, Ontario.

Five years ago Mr. Patterson retired from active business at the age of eighty-three.

Col. C. A. Lindbergh Spent Sunday in Capital of U.S.

Washington, June 13.—Colonel Charles A. Lindbergh, who on Saturday received the welcome and congratulations of Washington on his solo aeroplane flight from New York to Paris, spent what for him was a quiet Sabbath. He was cheered by impromptu crowds wherever he went.

As guests of President and Mrs. Coolidge, he and his mother in the morning attended the First Congregational Church and heard a sermon by the Rev. Jason Noble Pierce. The preacher did not refer to Lindbergh except to ask a blessing on the President and "those upon whom the eyes of the nation are focused."

In the afternoon Col. Lindbergh laid a wreath upon the tomb of the Unknown Soldier in the Arlington Memorial Cemetery and personally greeted maimed and disabled veterans at the Walter Reed Hospital.

Facing 30,000 people at the Vesper flag service at the west front of the Capitol, Lindbergh stated there were other things to be considered besides himself and his flight. He declared it represented the culmination of twenty years of aeronautical research and the gathering together in a aeroplane the best products in United States aviation.

On both occasions the young aviator received new honors, the veterans of the Civil, Spanish and world wars presenting him with a testimonial on parchment at the Walter Reed Hospital, while at the Vesper Service Charles Evans Hughes decorated him with the Cross of Honor of the United States Flag Association "for conspicuous service to the flag through his marvellous achievement."

ROBERT IRVING DEAD IN VANCOUVER

Vancouver, June 13.—Robert Irving, seventy-eight, who came to British Columbia ten years before the C.P.R. crossed the continent, died at his home here. One of the oldest and best known residents in the Province, he came West in 1877. In 1887 he was agent in Victoria for the Oregon Railway and Northern Pacific Navigation Company, and a year later appointed agent in Victoria for the Canadian Pacific Railway.

$300,000 FIRE AT PEMBROKE, ONTARIO

Lumber Destroyed; Blaze Menaced Town on Ottawa River

Pembroke, Ont., June 13.—A fire in the yards of the Pembroke Lumber Company, late Saturday caused a loss of $300,000 in lumber. The yards are situated on the Ottawa River and for a time the town was in great danger. So menacing did the flames become that many families in the vicinity moved, their household effects out into the streets, but subsequently they were able to return to their homes.

Six Persons Were Drowned in Lake

Forest Lake, Minn., June 13.—Six persons, all of St. Paul, were drowned in Forest Lake, near here, late yesterday when a rowboat containing eight persons capsized.

Those who lost their lives were: Hassen Elison, thirty-eight; his son, Peter, eight, and his daughter, Olga, three; Mr. and Mrs. Hjalmer Hansen and their daughter, Ann, aged two. Mrs. Elison, thirty-two and her son, Herman, eight years old, were the only members of the party saved.

The tragedy occurred when one of the children attempted to change seats and the boat tipped over.

TRIBUTE TO BIRD POET
Belleville, Ont., June 13.—Wallace H. Robb, the bird poet, has received a letter from the Prince of Wales congratulating him on the work he has accomplished for Canadian nature literature in gathering together and presenting to Canada a collection of paintings of native birds. The Prince expresses sincere appreciation of "all you are doing to popularize the study of bird life in Canada, and especially your efforts to interest young Canadians in the birds of their country."

ANTI-COMMUNIST DRIVE IN FRANCE

Twenty-one Agitators Arrested at Meeting Addressed By Andre Tardieu

Paris, June 13.—Twenty-one Communists were arrested at St. Etienne yesterday when they attempted to break up a meeting at which Andre Tardieu, Minister of Public Works, was the principal speaker. Five of the police and several of the manifestants were wounded.

The Government's decision, expressed by M. Barthou last week, to deal severely with Communists is reported to have been responsible for the outbreak. The general election is still a year off, but the Cabinet members have already begun a drive against Communism, making speeches in various parts of France with the Red danger as their text.

IMMIGRANT FLOW IS NOT TOO HEAVY

Country Needs Population, Says E. W. Beatty Replying to Complaint

Winnipeg, June 13.—"No one would presume to question the sincerity of the view of E. W. Beatty of Winnipeg on the subject of immigration," E. W. Beatty, president of the Canadian Pacific Railway, said when asked during an interview here with regard to the "bugle" call that he is the effect that far too many immigrants were being permitted entry to this country.

"Mayor Webb," he continued, "is one of the most intensely loyal men in Canada, but I think that he is unduly alarmed as to the present immigration situation. It is quite true that immigrants have come from Europe in moderate but not excessive numbers. It is equally true that there is almost complete unanimity throughout Canada as to the desirability of attracting as many immigrants from Great Britain as possible. The Imperial Government, the Canadian Government, the railways and the Hudson's Bay Company are concentrating on plans to bring out to Canada as many English, Scotch and Irish as can be obtained, and they are being brought forward at an expense to them so much less than that which immigrants from the continent are under that it is hard to believe the efforts to get them will not be successful."

"It must not be forgotten, however," continued Mr. Beatty, "that at times the movement from Great Britain is a slow one. The sole system has not added to the desire of young Britons to try their fortunes in the Dominion overseas and the very limited agricultural dispossessable to take up residence in Canada means a course of preparation to non-agriculturists which restricts the numbers of immigrants and the speed with which they can become citizens of Canada, but if we were to announce now that Europeans would be unwelcome, I am afraid the consequences would not be in this country's interests."

MUST BE MAINTAINED
"Immigration cannot be turned off and on like a tap," Mr. Beatty observed. "A reasonably steady movement must be maintained, else we will experience a definite attempt by European countries to prevent the migration of their nationals to Canada, which will mean a very limited immigration to this country at a time when the prospects of the country justify the admission of many more people."

"When we consider that the increase in Canada's population during 1926 through immigration was only slightly in excess of 92,000 it cannot be rightly claimed that we are admitting too many immigrants, and in view of the really great effort being put forward to give precedence and additional inducement to those from Great Britain, I do not think we have reached the point when we should be considering such immigration from Europe as now exists."

"In 1926 more than 104,000 Canadians left for the United States because, no doubt, they believed greater opportunities existed there. Many of those who migrated were young Canadians, well equipped and in most cases educated at the expense of this country. They are not easily replaced, but the inducement for them to remain here in spite of the great magnet of the population and wealth, and the variety of opportunities which that combination affords will be greatly increased by the improvement in general Canadian prosperity, and I know of nothing which will contribute more directly to this result than the admission of as many people as we can support and whose work will in turn advance Canadian development."

SLIGHT DELAY
"Due to exceptional weather conditions, there has been a little delay in placing some of the new immigrants, though none were brought to Canada by the C.P.R. who had not already been applied for," Mr. Beatty stated, when asked with regard to the criticism that some of the newcomers were not being rapidly absorbed. "This situation has been corrected and conditions are now entirely normal and newcomers are finding employment within a few days of their arrival." "Even if this were not so, and a few hundred immigrants were not placed immediately," he continued, "I would not consider this should cause the slightest concern to the Government or to any of the immigration agencies. The essential factor in immigration is that it should be a steady flow even in the times of its greatest prosperity. Some unemployment existed in the United States; that did not deter the Government of that country from continuing to admit immigrants during the time they were needed and in the end the benefits which accrued to the nation were what the policy of the Government was designed to secure. If a vigorous immigration policy is good for this country, it should not be diverted by incidental and temporary consequences of no real moment," he concluded.

In Northern Russia, natives are reported to have learned to hibernate, stretching sleep over many days of the dark, long winter.

ROTARIANS HEARD PRINCE OF BELGIUM

Leopold, Heir to Throne, Addressed International Delegates in Brussels

Brussels, June 13.—Blushing even more deeply than on the morning in November, 1926, when he was married to Princess Astrid of Sweden, Crown Prince Leopold of Belgium delivered his first address in the English language here Saturday.

The heir-apparent to the throne spoke to 4,000 Rotarians assembled at a luncheon here, with Burgomaster Max presiding. The Rotarians had come from the conference of International Rotary, which has just closed at Ostend.

"This is not a speech I am going to make," Prince Leopold began, waving a warning hand to the cheering assembly and speaking with a drawing accent. "I merely want to express my sincere thanks for your very kind welcome and say how glad I am at having met the members of the Rotary International family. I deeply appreciate the honor and the favor of being an honorary member of the Brussels Rotary Club."

Henry H. Rogers, retiring president of Rotary International, was made commander of the Order of the Crown by King Albert at a luncheon of the Brussels Rotary Club.

POLAND PROSPERING UNDER PILSUDSKI

Ending of the first year of the Pilsudski Government in Poland on May 31 finds the country in a vastly improved economic condition according to advice received by the Bankers Trust Company of New York from its foreign information service.

For the first time in its history, the new Polish state achieved a balanced budget, a stabilized currency, and a favorable balance of trade of over 400,000,000 zlotys. Although the country is primarily agricultural, all of the major industries increased their output. Unemployment fell from 346,400 in March, 1926, to 249,375 in March, 1927, the latest available figure.

The assumption of the dictatorship by General Pilsudski in May of last year represented a drastic effort to unify the three parts of the country which were taken from three different European powers after the war, to compose the Republic of Poland. The stability and efficiency of this government are reflected in the soundness of industrial and financial conditions and have apparently justified General Pilsudski's methods.

The 1926 budget showed a surplus of 54,000,000 zlotys—the first surplus that the new republic has ever achieved. The budget for 1927, recently approved by the legislature, also contemplates a surplus. Unusually this country has been able to maintain the stability of exchange, and although the currency outstanding very greatly increased, it is supported by a gold reserve equal to over 50 per cent of the notes in circulation. The legal gold requirement is only 30 per cent. The deposits and savings in the banks of the country have doubled since May 31, 1926.

Foreign trade for the year showed an excess of exports of 467,000,000 zlotys, and these exports have apparently continued for the first quarter of 1927. Since 65 per cent of the country's population is engaged in agriculture, the good crops of both 1925 and 1926 have greatly contributed to national earnings.

Violent Deaths in Montreal District

Montreal, June 13.—A murder, a suicide, two drownings and several other accidents took a toll of nine lives and sent ten others to hospitals suffering from various injuries in Montreal and district over the week-end.

Suppressed jealousy concerning their work in preparation for the feast of St. Michael flamed up yesterday between Dominique Niro, a father of ten children, and his comrade, Vincenzo Ciarelli, aged forty-nine. Before its intensity lessened, Ciarelli lay dead in the street, and Niro, who, according to a witness, had stabbed him three times through the heart with a jackknife, was under arrest charged with the crime.

Joseph Legault, sixty-one, a local fruit merchant, was discovered by his wife with his throat cut. He died in a few moments. The widow informed the police Legault had been in ill-health for some time.

AN IMPORTANT CONVENTION

THE ANNUAL CONVENTION HERE OF the Canadian Seed Growers' Association reminds us again of the many times experts have declared how particularly suitable British Columbia, Vancouver Island especially, is for the production of seeds of many kinds. We have been told that a good deal of the money which annually is sent out of this Province to Holland and other countries for bulbs might be circulated here if proper advantage were taken of climatic and soil conditions by our own people.

Such gatherings as that which commenced its business here to-day emphasizes the importance of the seed-growing industry, and it is encouraging to learn that a great deal of progress has been made in this Province during the last ten years. Not so very long ago the planter was in the habit of shaking his head and wondering if the seed would grow. No longer is he in any doubt about it. He knows now that the great seed houses of the Old Country have been so impressed with the quality of the British Columbia product that they are having their finest strains produced in this Province. One of the largest seed establishments in the British Empire, incidentally, has its own seed farm here, while some seed concerns in Britain advertise the fact that their seeds are grown in British Columbia.

Besides a very large number of varieties of vegetable, flower seed is grown in a big way in several parts of our Province. Sweet peas, in which this Island excels, take premier place in point of quantity and nearly all these are exported to Great Britain. How the trade is developing, moreover, will be understood from the fact that last year's seed production in British Columbia was valued at $67,500. A few years ago our commercial output was worth scarcely anything.

RADIO MARVELS

A STRIKING FEATURE IN CONNECTION with the welcome which President Coolidge and the American people extended to Colonel Charles A. Lindbergh last Saturday was the fact that millions of people on this continent heard practically everything that took place—the presidential address, the young aviator's reply, the booming of guns, the playing of bands, and the cheering of the vast crowds that had assembled for the occasion. Owners of radio sets in Victoria report that the reception of these unique proceedings was just as clear as if they had taken place here.

What occurred on Saturday suggests that the day is not far distant when parliamentary debates, important public speeches, musical and theatrical performances, wherever given, will be audible in every corner of the globe. Already much has been accomplished; the distance between the continents has been annihilated by the various forms of invisible communication. New York and London often are in close touch by radio. Australia and Canada similarly have heard one another on many occasions.

All this is helping the cause of international goodwill, since it is bringing peoples together and breaking down international barriers. This aspect of radio progress imparts a special significance to such an event as that which took place in Washington on Saturday.

The question of a common language naturally rises in this discussion. A debate of international significance in the German Reichstag, for instance, would be of no interest to the individual in Victoria who did not understand German, apart, of course, from the novelty of "listening in" at such a great distance. To overcome this handicap it is not reasonable to suggest that modern languages will be put on the same level as the three "r's" in all the schools of the world? Or might not the internationalizing process for which the radio is responsible result in an international language? This may be the ultimate outcome if the new science is to be developed to its logical conclusion. In any event there is much upon which to speculate now that the world has been very considerably reduced in size by this particular stage of scientific progress.

PULP AND PAPER

THE CANADIAN PULP AND PAPER industry continues to run neck and neck with that of flour and grist mill products in value of annual production for leadership among Canadian industrial activities. This country now has become the greatest individual producer of newsprint in the world, and this commodity ranks second only to wheat upon the list of the Dominion's exports. The item of manufactured wood pulp comes fifth upon the same list of exports. Such is the relative national importance of the Canadian pulp and paper industry.

The advance in the newsprint industry has been phenomenal as indicated in statistics of exports. In 1890 Canada's total exports of paper were valued at only $122; in 1900 they amounted to $29,741; while by 1910 they had mounted to $2,612,243. In the fiscal year 1920 exports of newsprint from Canada had a value of $53,203,792; and in the calendar year 1926 these exports had a value of $114,090,595.

In comparison with the world's chief exporters of newsprint in 1925, Canada occupied first position by a very wide margin, her exports being more than seven times as great as those of Germany, her next competitor. The total quantity of newsprint paper exported by the twelve chief exporting countries in that year was 5,045,661,500 pounds, of which amount we contributed 2,803,309,100, or 55.5 per cent., the other eleven countries—Germany, Sweden, Norway, Finland, United Kingdom, Austria, Newfoundland, Japan, Netherlands, United States, and Czechoslovakia—accounting for 2,242,352,400 pounds, or 44.5 per cent. To-day Canada's exports of paper exceed those of any other country of the world, and in the matter of newsprint paper her exports are probably greater than those of the rest of the world combined.

Progress in the production and export of wood pulp has been almost as remarkable. In 1890 our exports of wood pulp were valued at only $168,180; in 1900 $1,816,016; in 1910 $5,204,597; in 1920 $41,383,482; and for 1926 $52,077,122. During the calendar year 1925 we occupied second position among the world's exporters of wood pulp, the first place being held by Sweden, while Norway was in third place. In exports of chemical pulp Canada occupied second position, the first being held by Sweden by a wide margin, and third place by Finland. With regard to exports of mechanical pulp Canada stood in third position, the first place being held by Norway and the second by Sweden.

Early 1927 monthly details indicate that production and export figures of the pulp and paper industry in this country are continuing to rise.

REDUCING OUR DEBT

WHEN HE DELIVERED HIS BUDGET speech in the middle of February Hon. James A. Robb estimated that the decrease of the national debt during the fiscal year ending on March 31 would be about $31,000,000; but he erred on the side of caution and information made public at Ottawa on Saturday shows that he had cut the country's liability by $42,000,000 during the trading period in question. With reductions made in the three previous years added to this, the nation's liability is $106,000,000 less now than it was four years ago.

Even critics of the Government will acknowledge that this amount of debt reduction indicates good progress. Mr. Robb's policy in this regard no doubt is an important factor in the nation's credit. It helps to explain why our bonds and the Canadian dollar are at par and higher, why capital continues to flow into the Dominion from other countries in large amounts, why railway executives and financial experts remind us almost every day that Canada is doing well and going to do still better.

The information with regard to the country's debt reduction also is interesting when compared with the doleful predictions which the Canadian people heard and read during the Federal election campaign of 1925. They were told by some politicians at that time that nothing on earth could save the Dominion from economic disaster except a Conservative Government at Ottawa. Instead of anything like that happening, however, we have reduced our debt and increased our trade—with a Liberal Government.

WHAT OTHER PAPERS SAY

THE LIBERAL APPEAL
From The Worcestershire (England) Chronicle

We are told that Conservatism and Labor in the incitement to class warfare for that is what their part in the Trade Unions Bill quarrel amounts to—have circulated twelve millions of leaflets and held thousands of meetings to maintain the respective points of view. If the language of Lord Birkenhead among the Government champions, and of quite a number of labor agitators, fairly represents the tone and quality of this literature and this oratory the fight may be summed up in the words of a well-known writer, as a slanging match, a monumental example of partisan Billingsgate.

A better way is being followed by the Liberal organizations. In effect they are calling upon serious politicians and the electors at large to join in the study of the political problems of the time and of the solutions suggested by bodies of competent and patriotic persons, after searching examination of the facts.

The most familiar of these appeals relates to the land, which for many months has been the subject of rural meetings in many parts of the country. The Liberal policy in this respect strikes boldly for reform in agriculture that will give the farmer a free hand in the use of the land, and give the laborer the opportunity to share in the industry of the countryside. The meetings, lectures, classes and house-to-house conversations in which the missionaries of the Land Policy are engaged are drawing the attention of electors, men and women, who have not till now given much thought to politics.

Penetrating into villages and districts where Conservatism unquestioned was, the Liberal land vans find an eager welcome and hearty endorsement of the policy. This has been the experience during a tour in Mr. Baldwin's constituency. Instances are reported of Conservative voters—wary of looking for relief to their own party and enlightened upon the benefits to be obtained by the adoption of the Liberal policy—studying that policy and resolving to vote for it. Similar examples of success in the summons to the cool, reasonable consideration of the side of politics in which all are interested and in the service of which all can be enlisted, are reported from other countries, such as Essex and Devonshire. From Devon a typical remark is recorded.

"Of course," said a voluntary helper after one of the meetings, "I'm a Conservative, but this Government don't appear likely to do anything for agriculture, and something must be done and done soon. That's why I'm willing to distribute your bills—you are trying to do something for the land."

Do You Mean What You Say?

The term "Yankee," referring to New England residents or their descendants, is said to have been an Indian corruption of the French word for English, "Anglais," which became first "Yongay," and then, "Yankee." It is possible, too, that the derivation was the Scotch word, "Yankie," a sharp, clever woman. The word is often applied to all residents of the United States.

NOVA SCOTIA AND CONFEDERATION

The history of Nova Scotia is older than that of any other Province of Canada. Cabot landed on Cape Breton in 1497 and first raised St. George's Cross on American soil. De Monts

JOBS FROM GEOGRAPHY

THE RED HOUSE, in North central Yukon, is said to be the best preserved of ancient Mayan architecture which features this section of the peninsula. The structure derives its name from a red band circling antechamber to which the doors give access. Hieroglyphics, nearly 40 feet in length, are cut in the walls. All efforts to decipher them have failed.

and Champlain, in 1605, made a settlement at Port Royal (Annapolis Royal). For over a century there was almost continuous conflict between the English and the French, until, by the capture of Louisbourg (1758), French rule ended in what is now called the Maritime Provinces.

Nova Scotia, with a population approaching 600,000, is a peninsula 386 miles in length by 150 to 160 in width. The coast facing the Atlantic is, for the most part, rocky and barren, but the waters yield a rich harvest of fish; the land along the Bay of Fundy is highly productive, particularly noted for its fruit growing.

In early days Nova Scotia was known as Acadia, but its present name really dates from 1621, when Sir William Alexander obtained from King James I a grant of the territory which now constitutes both Nova Scotia and New Brunswick. The British gained a firm and abiding foothold in the province when Halifax was founded in 1749.

From the first days of British rule almost to Confederation the history of the Province was a history of the struggle for responsible government. Nova Scotia sent delegates to both the Charlottetown Union Conference and the Quebec Confederation Conference but there was a battle royal against entering the Union. Two groups of people, the opposing forces, Howe and Tupper (Sir Charles) Tupper. In the end Tupper won; Howe yielded to the inevitable. Nova Scotia received "British" terms and with no degree of enthusiasm became a part of the Dominion.

The Province is rich in natural resources. Its fisheries are vast and practically inexhaustible. In 1924 they had a total value of nearly $9,000,000. If the waters yield a rich harvest of fish, the land also can be dug for the earth. Vast coal beds exist, capable of yielding a supply, at the present rate of consumption, for seven hundred years. Besides coal and its by-products the Province is rich in iron, gypsum, limestone, etc. Since 1860 there has been a steady production of gold, in 1922, 1923, 1924, 1925, 1926, 1927, 1928, 1929, 1930, Before a large audience of parents and friends Friday afternoon the pupils of the Model School and the Normal School student choir gave a delightful entertainment in the auditorium of the Normal School, Mount Toimie.

The young pupils of Miss Scanlan and Miss Barron opened the programme with a pretty chorus, "A Little Ship," which was followed by "Good Morning, Merry Sunshine," a solo sung by Peggy Allen. The excellent little choir was heard in several numbers, including "Ride a Mile," "The Land of Nod," "When the Different Animals Get Up in the Morning" and solos were sung by John Aldous, "I Had a Little Pony," Brian Lytton, "Mr. Duck and Mr. Turkey," Gilbert Gibson, "What Shall I Sing," Douglas Williams, "Mr. Frog," "Mary, Mary," Grasshopper Green. All of these were faultlessly sung and unaccompanied, this being the special purpose of the entertainment from the point of view of Miss Riddell, instructor in singing, to demonstrate to the Normal students just how much can be done in the teaching of vocal music even where no instrument for accompanying may be available.

"Spring Waking" (Isabel Ecclestone Mackay) was a pretty recitation by Bobbie Jameson; and Edna Watkiss was heard with pleasure in "The Reason Why." Grace Townsend gave in costume two dances, a Dutch dance and an Irish jig, which were heartily applauded.

The Normal School choir sang with much feeling "Old Black Joe" and "In Venice," the latter being particularly melodious and rhythmic.

The second half of the programme was given by the senior pupils of the Model School and was equally interesting and well executed. The choral numbers comprised "A May Day Song," "Round," "Glide Along," "Haymaking Song," "Boat Song," this in two parts was most harmonious; chorus, "I'm a Merry Sailor Lad," with solo by Cyril Carter; Eileen Tomlin sang very sweetly "Lady Goldenrod," and other solos were "At Early Morn," Tom Wilson; "The Call of Spring," Agnes Guy, and "Poppies," by Grace Howroyd. Nancy Craig recited "Seven Things At Night" and "Fairy Voices," for which she was heartily applauded.

"The Torch of Life," Sir Henry Newbolt, and Dr. Drummond's "Johnnie Courtesan" were given by Ted Cotton, whose clear enunciation and vibrant young voice won him great favor. Helen Streatland played very prettily Schubert's "Impromptu Allegretto." The Student Choir of the Normal School sang two numbers, "Stars of the Summer Night" by the male voices, and "The Hunting Song" by the full choir, both very delightfully sung.

A little health play by the pupils of the Model School gave apparently as much joy to the young actors as to the audience, who were vastly amused and entertained by the clever acting and dialogue. The afternoon closed with the singing of the National Anthem. The annual picnic of the Normal students was held Saturday.

VICTORIAN WINS MC GILL DEGREE

Dr. William Gregson Completes Medical Studies Broken by War

William E. Gregson, elder son of the late William Gregson and Mrs. Gregson, 1415 Fort Street, has graduated in medicine at McGill, and has just received his degree of M.D.

As a popular student at Victoria High School Dr. William Gregson will be remembered by many Victorians, and admired for his determination to complete the medical course broken by four years of war service.

At the completion of hostilities, Dr. Gregson returned to the coast, and studied dentistry at Portland, later becoming an instructor in the institution where he had studied. At the first opportunity he returned to McGill, and finished his labors in medical studies. Dr. Gregson is at present filling a post at the Royal Victoria Hospital, Montreal.

ASSISTED SETTLERS NUMBERS INCREASE

During the year 1926 a total of 66,103 persons were assisted in overseas settlement by the British Government, as compared with 39,559 assisted in 1925. Those assisted to Australia and New Zealand were increased by 16,208 and 3,698, respectively; but the largest increase is shown in the numbers assisted to Canada, having risen from 8,500 in 1925 to approximately 21,535 in 1926, an increase of 12,535, according to figures just received by Bankers Trust Company of New York from its British information service.

Official figures recently published by the Department of Immigration and Colonization at Ottawa indicate that the total immigration into Canada during 1926 was 135,964, as compared with 94,907 in 1925. The number of British immigrants, that is, those from all other parts of the Empire, was 48,819. Immigrants into Canada from the United States numbered 20,944, and from other foreign countries 66,221. The corresponding figures for 1925 were: From other parts of the Empire, 33,362; from the United States, 17,117; and from foreign countries, 31,742.

The gross outward movement from Great Britain in 1926 amounted to 166,601, as compared with 140,594 in 1925. The net movement from Great Britain in 1926 was 118,538, in 1925 it was 84,359. For the whole Empire the movement was 93,227 in 1926, as against 62,686 in 1925.

During the year 1926 the natural increase of population, that is, the excess of births over deaths in England and Wales was 241,100, as against 237,741 in 1925; in Scotland the figure was 38,075 in 1926 and 38,050 in 1925. The three parts of the country the total was 279,775 in 1926, as compared with 276,371 in 1925. The natural increase of population during the decade between 1871 and 1911 averaged about 418,000 a year. During the decade 1901 to 1911 it averaged 450,000 a year, and after deducting the outward balance of migration was 76,000 a year, the total was 383,000. In 1925 the natural increase after deducting the outward balance of migration was 199,273, while in 1926 the figure was 175,806.

Alumni Society For Victoria College

An event of great interest to old students and friends of Victoria College is now well under way in the formation of an Alumni Society. This event is particularly significant because it typifies the growth of tradition and the expansion of a university that is fast coming into its own.

Ever since the formation of the college in 1919 this project has been discussed but no definite attempt has been made to organize such a society. This year, however, graduate students look back with pride to see that the college has just experienced its most successful year, particularly in the athletic line, and enthusiasm has risen to such an extent that successful organization is inevitable.

Consequently the meeting held for this purpose about three weeks ago at Craigdarroch was a decided success. Everyone was keenly interested and a committee was appointed to arrange for a large inaugural meeting on June 29. Circulars are on the point of being mailed to all old students telling of the proposed meeting and its purpose. The committee have promised refreshments for the occasion and every one concerned is especially urged to be present or at least to signify their interest by sending their address and any suggestions they may care to offer.

Gigantic Epic of British Naval Life Showing Here At Dominion All This Week

"The Flag Lieutenant," All-British Film, Has Strong Cast of Brilliant Performers; Does Credit to Men of "Silent Service"; Better Than "Beau Geste"

Great guns have started to boom at the Dominion Theatre where "The Flag Lieutenant" opens to-day for the Victoria premiere showing of this great English Navy in action for the first time, and how it scores in this romantic drama is marvelous. An all star cast has been assembled by the producer, Maurice Elvey. In addition to his selection of Henry Edwards in the title role, Forrester Harvey, who has the part of "Dusty Miller," the leading seaman, and Humberstone Wright as "Stiffy Steele," it is certain that no better selection could have been made anywhere. These two fellows furnish roars of rolicking laughter and are not to be taken seriously by any means. Another well-known English favorite is Dorothy Seacombe, who is also given an important part.

Thousands and thousands are engaged in the battle scenes which have been very cleverly handled, and the photography and settings are achievements which have been masterfully executed.

Produced with the direct co-operation of the British Admiralty, "The Flag Lieutenant" which was based on the play by Major W. T. Drury and Major Leo Trevor and made with the assistance of battleships, destroyers, seaplanes, seamen and marines, no obstacle was permitted to stand in the way in making this production as accurate and fine as possible. It has a very strong story, there is romance, love, action and thrills by the thousands. Without doubt, "The Flag Lieutenant" will rank close to the top of the best pictures produced this year as it is by far the finest production ever to be made in England.

Critics declare this film masterpiece a greater picture than "Beau Geste."

IRISH AND SCOTS BOTH LEND HUMOR

Charles Murray and Chester Conklin in "McFadden's Flats" hold comedy roles in Capitol screen feature.

laid in what is peculiarly Harold Bell Wright territory, the Catalina mountains in Arizona.

"The Mine With the Iron Door," says Mr. Lesser, was made in a locale which was well high ideal for motion picture production.

"Strange stories drift about the region," he says, "and thither many men have come—Spaniards, explorers, Indians, cattlemen, seekers for gold, and adventurers of all types, from every land. These men have sealed the mountain heights, up, up beneath the bluest of skies, over vast deserts they have travelled, up into the wilderness of mountains, and into the mighty Canada del Oro (Canyon of Gold). Even to-day in there, men hear of the great lost mine and its fabulous wealth in raw gold—The Mine With the Iron Door."

"The Mine With the Iron Door" is announced as the feature attraction Wright's latest and greatest novel, is this week at the Playhouse Theatre.

FRISCO DANCE KING WILL DEMONSTRATE AT PRESS CLUB PARTY

Straight from San Francisco, the city where many of the dances which have taken the world by storm originated, John D. Fogarty, well-known California dance master, will demonstrate the latest ballroom steps at the Press Club amphibious ball at the Crystal Garden, Wednesday, June 22. Mr. Fogarty, known as the dancing king in California, will step the Caribona, the Black Bottom, the Lindbergh Leap and the Presido-Parade—dances which he forecasts will soon put the ordinary fox-trot into the same class as the old-fashioned polka or square dance. It is expected that the Californian, who is skilled as an entertainer, will add considerably to the fun at the big frolic.

Coliseum Offering Triple-headed Bill For Local Audience

Black Bottom Girls and Two Excellent Pictures Are Scheduled

Victoria theatregoers have certainly shown their approval of the best real musical comedy company they have seen for some time, judging by the large audiences and enthusiastic applause which last week greeted Nixon and his "Black Bottom Girls" in their popular play entitled "A Night in Paris." Mr. Nixon and his bevy of beautiful and charming girls are appearing at the Coliseum Theatre again this week and are offering a peppy, laughter-producing musical comedy.

This play, according to all reports, even excels last week's.

As usual, the Coliseum screen attractions are the latest and best productions. The surprising feature of Pola Negri's latest starring vehicle, "A Woman of the World," which is the major screen attraction, is not that it is a stirring, dramatic, wholly modern story with a rural setting, but the fact that it reveals the fascinating emotional actress as a comedienne of considerable deftness and ability.

There are all varieties of laughs in "wedding bills," starring the alk-batted Raymond Griffith, which is the other screen attraction at the Coliseum. There are those delicate, refined laughs that tickle one politely in the ribs and then pass away in a series of mild undulations like a millpond ripple. There are also those lusty, boisterous laughs that advance on one's midriff and after shaking it thoroughly, pass away in a series of convulsive tremors resembling earthquakes. Then there is still another variety, the kind of laugh that seizes one firmly by the shoulders, shuts off the breath and tosses one into the air.

"The Flag Lieutenant" is the feature picture showing at the Dominion this week.

"Fireworks," Comedy of Everyday Life

The best intentioned people in the world see the day when their motives are misunderstood. That's just what happens in "Fireworks," the farce comedy to be presented on the stage at the Crystal Garden concert Tuesday evening. All the "Fireworks" are exploded because a wife thinks she is badly treated. Friend husband, too, manages to find that the grievance is by no means one-sided. Then the would-be peacemaking spinster takes a hand and make matters decidedly worse. It's a pretty pickle, but one will go away disappointed for it all ends happily, thanks to the tact of mother—Mrs. Bellby. Others of the Co-optimist comedy cast taking part are Mrs. Corby and Mr. and Mrs. Legge-Willis.

No little credit for the success of the weekly concert is due the Crystal Garden orchestra under the leadership of William Tickle. This week the orchestra will be featured in selections from "Sunshine Girl," "Selections from 'Chin Chin' and march, 'Madelon.' Malcolm Moore, pianist of the Garden orchestra, will provide several solo numbers. A popular dance to which the entire audience is invited completes the evening's entertainment.

Alberta Man Leaves Large B.C. Estate

William Roper Hull, who recently died in Alberta, left a British Columbia estate of $86,569, according to figures obtained at the Supreme Court registry Saturday. The late Mr. Hull's total estate amounted to $1,693,853.66. Other probates on the registry this week are as follows: Albert Stephen Chidlet, died at Victoria April 21, 1927, $2,906.49; Andrew Archibald, died at Allen, Ontario, February 15, 1922, $7,100.85; William John Ledingham, died at Vancouver, May 13, 1927, $4,455; John William Milson, died at Victoria October 3, 1926, $2,300; Janet Coote Spurgin, died at Victoria, March 1, 1927, $4,045; Sydney Robert Newton, died at Victoria, September 23, 1926, $2,021; Walter Claude Thorburn, died at Langford, September 7, 1926, $23,900.

Big Story of Race Track's Romance Shows at Columbia

"Trainer and Temptress" Great British Racing Drama

As a whole, "Trainer and Temptress" is perhaps the best British racing drama that has yet been screened. Quite the outstanding performance is that of Juliette Compton as the beautiful wicked "ramp." James Knight is an attractive hero and Cecil Morton York makes a knightly distinguished figure of the fine old sportsman, whose young wife so flagrantly deceives him. Other roles are capably filled. Most of the action passes in and round British racing stables which, though not a spectacular setting, have an atmosphere of convincing authenticity. The Derby scenes are splendidly done. "Trainer and Temptress" is being shown at the Columbia Theatre to-day.

"End of the Road" Problem Play at Variety This Week

Picture Powerful in Dramatic Action Replete With Action

It would be a great mortification to the average girl if she felt that the man of her choice looked upon her as "shop worn," and yet there is many a girl to-day, who by cheapening her affections, and being too ready to bestow tokens of them, is in all innocence laying up unhappiness for herself and others when she embarks upon life's greatest adventure of all. The problem is forcefully and ably dealt with in "The End of the Road," a remarkable photoplay showing at the Variety next week.

Every once in a while there comes a picture that is not only a powerful dramatic attraction, replete with action, but which sends the audience away in a very thoughtful mood. Just such a production is "The End of the Road," featuring Claire Adams, a beautiful Canadian girl, with Richard Bennett, a polished and popular character actor.

The subject is dealt with in a very frank manner, and yet there is nothing morbid in the story, for it brings home the fact that a wholesome life is the best.

A man brought to a Philadelphia hospital after having been overcome by the heat was found to have eleven yards of underwear wound around his body, and he wore three suits of clothes and several sweaters.

Pure Humor Holds Sway In Capitol Feature Film

Big Comedy Presentation of Famous Stage Success,
"McFadden's Flats," Holds Splendid Store of Fun;
Good Vaudeville on Bill as Well

Attention of the man who declared that no successful play could be constructed without a villain in respect-fully called to "McFadden's Flats," now showing at the Capitol Theatre. For the screen production of this feature comedy, like the stage play that endured for more than thirty years of successful and continuous runs, is practically without the suggestion of villainy.

While more laughs, numerous, unusual and side-splitting situations have been added to the original stage play in order to fit it for the screen, it is as much without the usual "heavy" work of the ordinary play as when it first was produced.

"The substitution of many laughs must have made up for the lack of villainy," said Edward Small, who produced the comedy for First National Pictures. "Newer productions are proving that audiences, the world over, love to laugh and that they don't mind if the usual rules of production are overlooked in the finding of those laughs. Successful entertainment of the future will run more to humor than sob, and money will be expended for ideas rather than lavish settings. The stage attractions at the Capitol Theatre for this week include, Edythe Fletcher, a very dainty danseuse in a novelty offering, Hazel Thorpe, harpist supreme, late of the New York Symphony, the Mark Strand Theatre, and for the last six years has been associated with the Coliseum Theatre Symphony orchestra of Seattle. The featured presentation offers Grant and Bates, a comical colored team, which, according to advance reports, is nothing short of a riot of laughter.

"FLYING FRAULEIN" ADVISED TO TRAIN

Levine May Provide Plane For Berlin Woman's Proposed
Flight

Berlin, June 13.—Therä Rasche, the "flying frau," has obtained a provisional promise from Charles A. Levine that he would seriously consider providing her with a Bellanca plane like the Columbia for a possible Berlin-New York flight. In the meantime he wants to see her perform in the air. This will probably be possible when he returns from Baden-Baden. Mr. Levine believes she ought to have a male pilot along with her, not because he doubts her dexterity, but because he fears for the strain of such a long flight, no matter how strong the woman may be.

Clarence Chamberlin has advised Rasche to go into lengthy training in cloud and fog flying. The pilot she would be likely to select on the flight if plans materialize is the crack German stunt flier, Udet, with whom she has performed on numerous occasions.

and gave the Berlin flapper a contract. It happened to be at the studio the day Miss Malena signed her contract. She was so elated that she scarcely knew what to do. Holding the paper as if she were afraid someone would attempt to take it from her, she rushed about the studio seeking her few friends to tell them the news.

As yet, little is known of Lena's screen capabilities except that she did some excellent work with UFA, leading German picture concern. But De Mille believes her to be a potential star—and she looks it. The best way to describe Lena is to say that she is a combination of Clara Bow, Colleen Moore and Pola Negri.

"It is interesting to watch this invader's reactions in Hollywood. She talks most profusely about men. 'Men here are very nice and always know you a good time—but don't take them seriously,' she declares. 'Were I to take any one of them seriously, I would be a fool. I don't know how girls can be sure of their men. They all say such nice things—and don't mean any of them.'

"In this country men are so bold. They want you to do just as they do. When they laugh and have lots of fun, they want me to do the same. That is all right sometimes but there are times I want to sit quietly. When I do that, they ask, 'What is the matter?' and can't understand that I just want to be quiet."

"When I go to parties too, the men are the same. I often want to go home early so that I can get to the studio early the next day but if they want me to stay they make me stay."

Two Orchestras To Play For Reporters' Frolic Next Wednesday

The spectacular appearance of Miss Victoria, Canada's leading bathing girl beauty, in a wonderful setting of rainbows and flowers, two orchestras, singing musicians, soloists, aquatic events of a nature never before seen in Victoria, and demonstrations of dance steps which will soon be included in every dance programme, are a few of the many features arranged for the Victoria Press Club amphibious frolic to be held Wednesday, June 22, at the Crystal Garden.

The curtain rises on the three-ring circus programme at 8 o'clock. Dancing starts at 9 o'clock, and continues until 1 o'clock. From the opening until the close there will be something doing every second, and no guest will find it possible to take in every event on the programme.

The Crystal Garden orchestra, which has leaped into fame under Director William Tickle, will play on one of the dance floors. Professor Ornd will be in charge at the other.

The aquatic programme is not yet complete, but it includes some exciting events. There will be few races, the programme being devoted to novelties. Tilted in canoes, water rugby, human fish in a fight against expert anglers, the dive of flames and other daring stunts will be included.

WHAT TRACTOR COSTS
A survey of sixty farms in Illinois made by the college of agriculture, University of Illinois, shows that it cost $224.22 on an average to operate a two-plough tractor last year. Operation of the average three-plough tractor cost $339.32.

TRAVELER WAS SAVED $2,600 BY POLICE

But He Lost $50,000 on Alleged Horse Race; Three Men Held in Winnipeg

Calgary, June 13.—Three men supposed by the police to be international confidence men were arrested here Saturday and it is claimed W. J. Brown, a wealthy merchant from the Orient, saved the loss of $2,600 which they had induced him to put up on a horse race. Brown, it is alleged, had been fleeced of $50,000 while in Vancouver and had wired for another $50,000 which it was expected would be received by wire at a local bank Monday. Had the game not been nipped in the bud it is thought that amount would have gone in an effort to redeem the former loss.

On Saturday it was reported to the police that two men traveling in one of the busses from Banff had paid his fare with a Mexican $10 bill. Detective Patterson began to investigate. The men were rounded up, taken to the police station and $25,000 in what is supposed to be bogus Mexican bills was found on their persons. A further search led to the discovery of $1,500 sewn up in the shoulder of the shirt of one of the men. A third man was rounded up and between him and the second man was found another $1,400 in their shoes.

TOLD HIS STORY

Then it was found a fourth man had been seen in their company. It was at first supposed, he was an accomplice. He was found at a hotel and proved to be an alleged victim. The story he told to the police was that while on the Pacific coast he had been accosted by a man who claimed to be the son of a judge living in Vancouver. This man knew of a "sure thing" on a horse race and Brown was induced to put up $50,000. The horse failed to win and Brown made no complaint.

When he reached Banff, however, another man spoke to him, asking him whether he was the man who had lost $50,000 on a bet in Vancouver. Sympathy was expressed and the new friends told of a scheme they had by which he could win back the $50,000. They produced $7,400 in bills and suggested he put up $2,600 to make the amount up to $10,000. To do this Mr. Brown exhausted all his money on credit at the Calgary bank. Then he wired back home for a further credit of $50,000. He was inclined to proceed with his journey to Europe without prosecuting the confidence men as he said he did not wish to miss his ship. But the police told him that would be criminal, so the case was listed for hearing to-day.

JUVENILE CRIME IS CONVENTION SUBJECT

Northwest Sheriffs and Police
Meet at Nelson This Week

Special to The Times

Nelson, B.C., June 13.—Two additional speakers have been added to the programme of the sixth annual convention of the Northwest Association of Sheriffs and Police, to meet at Nelson, June 16 to 18.

J. H. Carver, prosecuting attorney of Franklin County, Idaho, will speak on "Crime Among Juveniles," and H. A. Griffiths, prosecutor for Canyon County of the same state, will have as his subject, "Common Sense As Applied to Law Enforcement."

Thirty-one prominent jurists, prosecuting attorneys, police chiefs, sheriffs and provincial officers of Canada are on the programme announced to-day by President Luke S. May of Seattle. One comes from Washington, D.C., the others are from the nine states and two Canadian provinces embraced in the association's membership. The convention will select a delegate to represent the association at the meeting of the National Crime Commission at Washington, D.C., in September. This commission and the Hearst Crime Commission will be represented at the association's convention, together with many members of the Chief Constables' Association of Canada.

President May believes the meeting will be the greatest international gathering of experts on crime ever held in the West.

To prove that he was as good as he used to be, an Ohio farmer, recently on his ninetieth birthday, had his photograph taken "skinning the cat" from the branch of a tree.

Brooklyn Take Second Game From Pittsburgh; Cubs Beat Giants Once More

New York, June 13.—Leaders of both major leagues have suffered setbacks in the hair-trigger league standings. No less than five of the seven games yesterday were won by a margin of a single run and most of those were decided in the final inning or two.

While the Pirates were brought down from behind by a stirring Brooklyn rally, the Yanks were beaten from in front by a seven-run Indian lead made in the first inning.

In trying to field a line drive in the eighth, Traynor, crack third baseman with Pittsburgh, split a finger. The injury may keep him out of the lineup for a week.

Chicago's second-place club were having mingled fortunes. While the White Sox dropped their game to a row to the Senators, the Cubs crowded the Pirates for first place with their eighth straight victory. Karl Webb, a McGraw discard, helped to beat the Giants by a single in the eighth which pushed across the deciding run to make it 7 to 6.

New York, June 13.—Babe Ruth connected with another of his heavy blows yesterday, number twenty-one of the current season, but the Yankees were noosed out by the Cleveland Indians, 8 to 7, in the second game of the series. Ruth made his homer off Uhl, while his banner year 1921, he hung up his twenty-first circuit clout on June 13.

At Detroit, three successive singles in the tenth inning gave Detroit an 11-10 victory over Boston. It was the Tigers' fifth winning game in a row. Carroll, who relieved Gibson, was a big factor in the Tiger victory, batting in three runs with his triple and two singles and scoring two runs himself.

Held to five hits by Lisenbee at Washington, the Chicago White Sox dropped their second straight game to the Senators, 6 to 1. The Senators touched the veteran Faber for thirteen hits in seven innings, getting two more off Cole in the eighth.

RELIEF HURLER WINS
Relief pitcher Norman Pitt won a ball game for himself and the Robins at Brooklyn yesterday when his single in the eighth inning drove in the run that gave Brooklyn a hectic 11 to 10 victory over Pittsburgh.

It was the second time in two days that Brooklyn came from behind the closing innings to conquer the league leaders and oddly, yesterday's score was the same as Saturday's. Harris and Gooch of the Pirates hit homers.

CUBS CONTINUE WINNING
Chicago ran its winning streak to eight, straight by hammering three New York pitchers for a 7 to 6 victory before a record crowd of about 65,000 Chicagoans. Chicago bunched their hits in the eighth and ninth to put across the winning run. Webb led Chicago's attack with a home run and two singles.

Boston evened the series at Cincinnati by winning yesterday's game, 4 to 1. Genewich outpitched Donohue and held Cincinnati scoreless until the ninth inning, while Boston bunched several hits in several innings.

Lester Bell's home run in the ninth with Holm on base gave the Cardinals a 5 to 4 victory over Philadelphia at St. Louis. McKan, Phillies' left fielder, had a perfect day at bat, getting five hits out of five trips to the plate.

ITALIAN DOUBLES SURPRISE FRENCH IN DAVIS CUP SERIES

Rome, June 13.—Baron de Morpurgo, Italian player, defeated Henri Cochet, French international star, in the first of to-day's deciding singles in the Davis Cup tennis play, making the team score two all. De Morpurgo won 7-5, 5-7, 6-4, 6-4.

Cochet seemed ill and obviously suffering from the extreme heat playing far off form.

Rome, June 13.—France suffered a reverse in the Italian-French Davis Cup elimination play yesterday when the Italian doubles team, composed of Baron de Morpurgo and Giorgio de Stefani, defeated the French team, made up of Henri Cochet and Jacques Brugnon in three straight sets, 6-4, 6-4, 6-4.

Cochet and Rene Lacoste won two single matches from De Morpurgo and De Stefani, but the French team lost the doubles match to one in favor of the French. Two singles matches remain to be played.

Copenhagen, June 13.—The Danish tennis team has won all the matches in the Davis Cup elimination play against the Indian contingent. Denmark defeated India by capturing the doubles on Saturday in addition to the first two singles matches.

Yesterday E. Ulrich defeated Krishen Prasad, India, 6-4, 7-5, 6-4, while Henriksen defeated Pyee, India, 6-0, 6-2, 6-4.

Scottish Players Entertain Calgary Without a Thrill

Fans Fascinated by Brilliant Display Given by Touring Team; Score Was 6-0

Only in Opening Ten Minutes Did Home Side Have Chance to Score; Ground Wet

Calgary, June 13.—The touring Scottish soccer team gained another victory when they defeated the Calgary All-Stars, 6 to 0, Saturday.

Despite the heavy rain of the previous three days, Victoria Park was the scene of tremendous enthusiasm Saturday afternoon, when 6,000 spectators rose to the occasion to cheer vociferously the "cream of Scottish talent" when they defeated the Calgary All-Stars 6 to 0.

The tourists provided an education in soccer the like of which was never before witnessed in the city. It was a match of skill but an afternoon of entertainment, to which the visitors contributed the fascinating part notwithstanding the heavy state of the pitch and the greasy surface. The tourists were exceptionally fast, nimble and astute. The power of the visitors was reflected in their immense superiority of half backs and forwards. They executed alternate moods. There was far-flung passes and subtle diversions.

AN EARLY HOPE
Only for a matter of ten minutes during the opening stages was there really a hope that the Calgary attack would beat down the opposing defense. Twice Cartwright got the ball in the danger zone and was between the back, but before he could shoot, he lost his foothold on the greasy surface—thus was Calgary's chance of scoring avoided.

The tourists scored two goals in the first half and four in the second.

After fourteen minutes of play McLean gave Munro an opening and Wilson in goal had no chance. Munro and McLean engineered the movement for the second goal which Cunningham scored.

Early in the final half Hunter beat Wilson's hard drive. Munro headed in from Archibald's pass to make it 4-0. Archibald lobbed the ball to Munro who registered the fifth goal with ease. Munro wound up the scoring when the ball hit the upright and it bounced into the net.

The teams were:
Scotland: Hamilton, Scott, W. McStey, Muirhead, J. McStey, Craig, Archibald, Cunningham, Munro, Hunter, McLean.

Calgary: Wilson, Kilpatrick, Stephen, McKel, Nibbel, Pate, Wakeley, Cartwright, Strachan, Kirkwood, Stenhouse.

Royal Ascot To Be As Brilliant As In Gay Days Before War

Quarter of a Million Dollars in Purses Will Be Run For at Four-day Meet

Royalty to be Much in Evidence at Meet Running From June 14-17

London, June 13.—Royal Ascot, perhaps the most socially brilliant race meeting in the world, this year will be brighter than at any time since the war. It will be staged from June 14 to 17, inclusive. King George and Queen Mary will entertain a house party at Windsor Castle during Ascot Week, and with the Prince of Wales their Majesties will make a semi-state entry to the beautiful enclosure. The Duke of Connaught, former Governor-General of Canada, like many others of the nobility, will entertain a house party at his seat, Baginbun Park.

From a racing standpoint the rich and historic Ascot races should be keenly contested. The very finest of the turf's races will compete, from the tremulous two-year-olds of the Coventry and Chesham Stakes to the experienced handicaps—performers that will contest the famous Ascot Gold Cup, the Gold Cup and the Royal Hunt Cup. The Gold Cup and Gold Cup are most famous of the turf's long distance handicaps, being respectively two miles and two and a half miles, while the Royal Hunt Cup of seven furlongs, 166 yards, annually brings out the best class of handicap horses.

CORONACH TO RUN
The Gold Cup promises one of the best races of the year, Coronach, 1926 Leroy winner, heads the four-year-olds who will compete with a select division of handicap horses. These latter include the Mahabaja of Rasputin, Embargo, winner of the City and Suburban in April; Lord Derby's Schiavoni, Liverpool Spring Cup winner; Mrs. Gaudin's Chas. Bell, Royal Hunt Cup winner last year; H. H. Aga Khan's Dark Japan, winner of the Chester Vase; Reid Walker's Invershin; the French Ascot, and M. de St. Alary's Frigates—the cream of handicap racers in training.

Practically all the areas during Ascot's four days—June 14 to 17—are feature races. The Ascot Gold Cup, perhaps the greatest of all, is 120 years old this month, and its two and a half miles course is one of the hardest tests the flat racer can face.

The Gold Vase, half a mile shorter, is eighty-nine years old. The two and three-quarter mile Alexandra Stakes has been run since 1865. The Royal Memorial Stakes of seven furlongs, 166 yards is fifty years old, and the Royal Hunt Cup over the same course is eighty years old.

The outstanding races for three-year-olds are the Coronation Stakes, a mile; the Prince of Wales Stakes, three-quarters of a mile; and the St. James's Palace Stakes, a mile. The great races for two-year-olds are the Coventry Stakes, Queen Mary Stakes, Chesham Stakes and New Stakes, all of course, about five or six furlongs.

RICH PURSES
One reason for the high position attained by Ascot is found in the rich prizes offered. These, added to the stakes put up by the owners, make up a grand total for the four days of more than quarter of a million dollars—an average of $10,000 a race. The richest events are the Coronation Stakes for three-year-old fillies, worth about $25,000 if ten run; the Queen Mary Stakes for two-year-old fillies, $17,000; and the St. James's Palace Stakes for three-year-olds, $17,000.

Cincinnati, Ohio, June 13.—Three New York National League players have been traded to the Boston Nationals for a like number of men, it was announced here last night by Manager John J. McGraw of the Giants.

Players involved in the deal, McGraw said, were Pitcher Benton, Catcher Taylor and Infielder Thomas of Boston, and Pitchers Fred Kiehn and McGowan and one other player of the Giants.

Young Golfer Sets Record For Langara

Vancouver, June 13.—Monty Hill, one of the younger members of the Glen Oaks Club, established a new amateur record for the Langara course Sunday when he went around the circuit in 74 strokes. The record was held by E. S. McCadden who also had 74 but that mark was set before Hole No. 10 was lengthened from 190 to 235 yards. It is the club rule that, except in competition, players must tee up. Hill teed up in the morning when he made his record. He did not tee up in the afternoon but made another 74—two record rounds in one day. Dave Ayton holds the professional record with 70. Hills card: Out, 534, 535, 544-37; in, 245, 644, 345-37. Vancouver Pitcher Nearly Got a No-hit No-run Game; Interior Teams in Good Game

In what should prove a real battle the Travelers and Eagles will lock horns at the Royal Athletic Park to-night in the Senior Amateur Baseball League.

The game will start at 6:15 o'clock and "Allie" McGregor will be back behind the bat with pads and mask on. "Allie" has been persuaded to return as the senior league umpire and no doubt this will meet with players and fans alike.

Norman Forbes or Macdonald will pitch for the Travelers. The sample men are, at the present time, hard put for a catcher and it is not known yet who will be on the receiving end of the battery.

Johnny Kerr or Pollard will do the work for the Eagles with Bobby Ross behind the plate.

A win for the feathered tribe will boost them farther ahead in the league leadership while if the Travelers hang up a victory they will be sitting on even terms with Ross's proteges.

Vancouver, June 13.—"Bry" Shidler, who shares the first-string hurling with Doug Muscutt, found himself in rare form at Fraser Mills Sunday afternoon and came within one frame of tossing a no-hit game. As it was he let Eddie Olson and company down with two hits, the lumber crew beating the cagemen 5 to 2. One of the biggest crowds of the season saw the rival teams battle it out.

Trail, B.C., June 13.—Nelson Seniors defeated Trail Seniors 6-2 here yesterday in the West Kootenay Baseball League. Rossland are league leaders.

Nelson, B.C., June 13.—Trail defeated Nelson Fairwinds here yesterday, 12-6, in eleven innings in the opening game of the West Kootenay Class "B" Baseball League. The third club in the league is the Trail Sheiks.

Famous "Bud" Shows His Class; Miss Hickey Surprises With Win Over Champ

SPLENDID TRIUMPH

Probably no more impressive display was ever seen on local courts than Doreen Swayne's triple win on Saturday when she spread-eagled her opponent in each event, displaying the same heady and constant play that carried her through the week without the loss of a set. Joan List made the best showing against the champion, but Miss Swayne always seemed to hold the upper hand in the many long and interesting rallies. Both showed a knowledge of the net game unusual in young players. The many local fans such young Swayne. The many local fans such young Swayne.

Yesterday afternoon he finished things by teaming with Schwengers to trounce Temple and Barnes, who were hardly strong enough for the winners. It was only in the second set that the looking pair seriously threatened, although the play throughout was closer than the score would indicate. Bob Schwengers played as steady, useful a game as he showed how much he has improved in the last year.

Temple defeated Garrard in the final of the men's consolation singles.

LOSERS' BEST TITLES
Miss Hickey provided one of the upsets of the tournament by depriving Miss Severs of her title after a battle that was nip and tuck all the way. Both ladies gave a great exhibition of driving before Miss Hickey got home at 6-3, 2-6, 7-5.

The results were:
Girls under eighteen—Doreen Swayne beat Joan List, 6-1, 6-3, winning the J. G. Brown Challenge Cup.
Girls under sixteen—Doreen Swayne beat Margaret Little, 6-0, 6-0, winning the W. H. Wilkerson Challenge Cup.

Boys under eighteen—Steve Jones beat E. A. MacSwain, 6-4, 5-7, 6-1, winning the Powell Memorial Cup.
Boys under sixteen—H. R. Robertson beat D. O. Wootton, 6-3, 6-1, winning the E. E. Pooley Challenge Cup.

Boys under fifteen—H. R. Robertson beat B. B. Ward, 6-3, 6-8, 6-2, winning the Verley Challenge Cup.

Picked Soccer Teams Will Meet To-morrow Night in Final Game

Picked football teams from the First Division will meet to-morrow evening at the Royal Athletic Park in the third and final game of the series to decide which players will be picked for the all-star eleven to oppose the touring Scotch team. The game will start at 6:30 o'clock.

The teams will be as follows:
Saturday—The "Braves" (Watt, Campbell, Hosmer, Spiers, Feden, Cameron, John Watt, Gifford, Warren, Wainland, Kennedy, Shanks, Campbell and Burns).

LONDON JOTTINGS

By a Victorian

London, May 23 (By Mail).—The slogan of the moment is "Brighter London" and in a small way British Columbia House has contributed her share, by supplying a long-kept want. From to-day no one may pass by without being attracted by the gold lettering "B.C. House—British Columbia House," sixteen inches in height which has been placed just below the Agent-General's office windows on the first floor, on either side of the main entrance.

Perhaps the chief difficulty has been that nearly all strangers and, indeed, many Londoners, are under the impression that Regent Street terminates in Piccadilly Circus and that all Lower Regent Street bears the name of Waterloo Place as do the last two blocks. But even those who have been better informed often have passed the building by, because the name was not sufficiently clear, especially from across the street. Since the introduction of the one-way traffic system this thoroughfare is even more crowded with vehicles than heretofore.

The "Bobbies" on this beat are kept particularly busy and they look brighter as they noticed the workmen putting the finishing touches to the new sign. It means one question off the long list to be answered by these ever courteous and patient men.

All available office space is now occupied. The model of a ship in the windows of the Blue Funnel Line, now installed in their new offices on the ground floor, proves a draw to the passerby. A group is usually to be seen outside the frequently changed and interesting windows of the Canadian and Universal Travel Service. This company, which undertakes to conduct parties around the world, around the shops or to the Derby, is a decided asset to B.C. House. Their small and smart page boy in addition to his other duties, shows visitors the way upstairs where they may learn from an efficient staff, the many advantages of B.C. the land of sunshine. The space covered by the Union Bank of Scotland completes an imposing front.

New Gardens during Easter Week contained a wealth of blossoming trees and beds of spring flowers, a feast of perfume and color. It was a delightful surprise to find a glass house which was full of B.C. wild flowers. To call them by their more popular names—black tulips, peacocks, bluebells, yellow violets and pink and white trilliums were arranged in pots as specimens. The most noticeable difference in this cultivated state was the smallness of size. Apparently our most beautiful wild flower, the white lily, had not been experimented with. But it may interest garden lovers to know that bulbs of this variety which were brought to London a year ago were transplanted with great success. They were out of the ground for four weeks before being replanted in a tub on a roof garden. This Spring leaves grew from each of the dozen bulbs and five of them produced a blossom, small in size but otherwise perfect.

Hon. F. A. Pauline attended the annual dinner of the London Chamber of Commerce last week and the dinner given by the British Empire League at the British Empire Club, to the representatives of the colonies, protectorates and mandated territories at the Colonial Conference.

Deane, Mrs. C. W. Cudemore, Miss James Bodwell and E. B. Elliott of Victoria called at B.C. House during the last few days.

CHILD PATIENTS MAKING PROGRESS AT SOLARIUM

If there still remain any doubting Thomas who questions the benefits accruing to crippled children from the sun-cure, the following report of the work accomplished at the Queen Alexandra Solarium at Mill Bay during the last three months should be adequately convincing.

The report given by Dr. Cyril Wace to the directors reads:
There are now thirty-six children under treatment. Of these eleven are suffering from "tubercular disease" of bones, joints, spine or glands. Seven from other infective diseases of bones and joints. In all these eighteen cases, or fifty per cent. of the children under treatment, there is, with one exception, either marked deformity, fixation of joints, chronic discharging wounds, or a combination of these. Eleven cases are suffering from various forms of psoriasis or complete paralysis of arms and legs or both.

"There are two cases of chronic bronchitis and asthma (non-tubercular). Two cases of congenital deformity of the feet. Two cases of undernourished and weakly children, improving with this form of treatment. One case of deficiency disease, i.e., a child suffering from defect of the normal secretion of the internal glands of the body.

"The further cases have been discharged, one cured, following operation for abscess in bone; one unsuitable, transferred to the Provincial Hospital, and one, who had improved, removed by his parents, making a total of thirty-nine cases under treatment since March 1.

"The improvement in all types of cases has been satisfactory, and in two of the partially paralyzed, there has been very marked return of power in the muscles of the limbs while under treatment.

"The gain in weight may be taken as some index of improvement. During the last month two cases of tubercular disease have gained respectively eight pounds and six-and-a-half pounds.

"One very severe case of multiple arthritis, or inflammation of joints of the arms and legs, in a boy of eleven years, weighing, on admission, thirty-seven pounds, and with great deformity of his limbs, gained, in the twenty-eight days since his admission, five pounds with marked improvement in the condition and movement of the joints, and greatly increased power in the arms and legs. In only two pounds and under four-and-a-half pounds in the month. Five cases, gained one to two pounds. In only one case where some increase of weight might have been expected, was there a loss of one-and-three-quarter pounds. This gain, in the twenty-eight days since his admission, and the general condition is good, and improving, in spite of this slight loss of weight.

"The average length of time during which the children have been under treatment before admission to the Solarium in the eleven tubercular cases, has been five years, many of these cases have very marked deformity, especially the spinal cases.

"In the cases of infective bone and joint disease, the illness has lasted, on average, two years from 1923, two from 1925, and the remainder from 1926.

"Nineteen children have come from Victoria and Esquimalt, Saanich, four from Cowichan, two, and one each from Nanaimo, Hornby Island, Kootenay Bay, Port Hardy, Armstrong, Vancouver, North Vancouver, South Vancouver, Shelley, Prince Albert, Fernie, Sidney, White Rock, and Port Moody. Five further cases will be admitted shortly and sixteen other forms of application have been applied for."

Islands

The second quarterly meeting of the Galliano Island Development Association was held in the hall. The president, Paul Scoones, was in the chair. There was large attendance. The question of how best to celebrate the Dominion Jubilee was discussed. A committee was chosen and it was left in their hands to decide on the celebration of such land requesting the immediate cutting and burning of such weeds and, in the event of this not being done, the association at once take steps to enforce the law.

Captain Denroche again urged the members to secure a sports field for the island and gave particulars as to acreage and price of suitable land available. Thirteen members said they were willing to financially support the scheme and it was then decided to canvass for further help.

The association regretted to learn unofficially that its efforts to secure the urgently needed telephone service to the north end of the island had so far proved unsuccessful. The money not being available this year. The association is determined to work until this is accomplished and instructed the secretary to write at once to Mr. Finlay, Superintendent of Government Telephones, Vancouver, and to Mr. Dickie, M.P., urging the very great need of this service for North Galliano, where at present the residents are isolated.

The chairman said the efforts of the association in regard to the representation made recently as to the association upon Galliano have been ignored. The representation to the Federal Government in relation to Sturdie Bay have met with definite results for the benefit of the island and such results encourage us as a public, non-political organization of the whole community to work for its future development and welfare of the islanders.

A new member was enrolled and two more names received, which brings the membership up to sixty-six.

Institute Club took place at the home of Miss Ruby and Mrs. Young, with a large attendance of members, two former members also being present. Miss Doris Mitchell presided and the secretary's report and financial statement were read by Miss Janet Sherling. The junior institute will assist the South Saanich senior institute in serving a luncheon to the Seed Growers' Convention at the Experimental Farm on Wednesday, June 15. Arrangements were made for assisting and as many members as possible will attend. Final plans were also made for the club picnic. The annual entertainment in honor of the senior members and mothers of the girls was discussed, it being decided to hold the event after the busy season.

The Farmers' and Women's Institutes of South Saanich will hold the regular meeting for the month of June in the Temperance Hall on Thursday evening, June 16.

A jolly crowd of young people were the guests of the South Saanich Junior Institute at the annual picnic on Saturday afternoon held at Spoon Bay. About thirty members and friends were present and a merry day was enjoyed in games and sports, while several of the party also went swimming.

A delicious picnic supper was served after which a bonfire party was held on the beach. At supper time a pleasing incident took place when, on behalf of the members Miss Doris Mitchell presented Miss Gladys Tanner with a dainty silver compact as a token of esteem and in remembrance of her twenty-first birthday. Miss Tanner expressed her pleasure and thanks suitably.

The fruit season will be in full swing in Keating this week, several of the growers having already commenced to pick strawberries, and a large number of pickers are being engaged throughout the district. The loganberry patches are now in full bloom and pickers will be required for these after the strawberry season.

How to make Finer Flavored Jams and Jellies

EVERY woman knows that the longer fruit is cooked, the more its natural color darkens and its delicate, fresh flavor drifts away in steam.

That is why so many housewives are delighted with the new short-boil method of making jams and jellies with Certo. For with Certo your fruits jell perfectly with only one or two minutes' boiling. "My jams and jellies taste just like fresh fruit," women say when they use Certo. Or, again, "My jams taste enough like fresh fruit to use in shortcake."

More than ten million housewives now use this modern Certo way because it avoids the great waste of boiling away the juice, so that the actual cost of their jams and jellies is less than by the tiresome, old-fashioned, uncertain way.

Certo is a pure fruit product—the jelling substance of fruit refined and bottled. A book of simple, tested recipes for all varieties of delicious jams, jellies and marmalades comes with each bottle.

Send the coupon and we will mail you (free) a special colored booklet of recipes and suggestions for jams and jellies.

A Story of One Wonderful Week
By MALCOLM DUART
Copyright 1927

The truck rumbled past, and a moment later the closed car went by. Bodey dropped his hands.

"I think you're perfectly horrible!" said the girl, rubbing her cheeks. "I'll bet you've left red marks on my skin."

"Nobody around here to notice," he comforted. "Now we'll scramble across that fence while the highway's clear."

The girl was agile, and they went over the barrier together. Bodey glanced to right and left as they crossed the highway. Two other cars now were in sight, but both were too far away to worry him.

The second fence was quickly surmounted, and the pair set forth across lots toward the distant Sherwood place.

"Where you going to yell, back there at the highway?" he asked, curiously.

"Of course I was. I've got a right to get away from you if I can."

"That's so," he agreed. "It's kind of a game, isn't it? Let's make a set of rules. I don't want to have to tie you, if Smithy and I go into town. You know."

"I know what," she inquired. "It's about Smith. I'm afraid he'll bother you if I leave him to watch you. Will you agree not to run away if I take him into the village with me?"

"I'll run away if I can," she declared.

"But look here," he said. "I've got your friend Pierce on my hands now, and I've got to look after you, and keep Smith in order. I can lock Pierce in the old milk house, but the only place I've got for you is that dark room. It's no place for a girl to stay, six or seven hours while we go to Joliet. But if you won't promise to behave yourself, and stay around the house, I'll either have to tie you up or lock you in the room."

"It's not my fault you're in this mixup," she said. "You brought it on yourself. Mr. Bodey, did you and that boy turn burglars? Is that why you're hiding?"

"A burglar," he answered pensively. "is a person who breaks into an inhabited dwelling for purposes of robbery. A man went to prison for life in Ohio for poking his arm through a screen door and lifting a slab of bacon. Somebody was in the house, and he broke the screen. That made him a burglar. Do you think that was fair?"

She turned her face toward him, with alert interest. "So you are a burglar," she thrilled. "How frightfully awful!"

"My dear young woman, I didn't say I was a burglar," he said. "I was only discussing burglary. As a matter of fact, I am not a burglar."

Her countenance fell. "I thought I'd guessed your secret," she said.

"Besides, if I were one, I wouldn't tell you," he continued. "You're unreliable. Are you going to promise to behave yourself if I take Smith to the village with me?"

"I won't promise one solitary thing," she said.

He sighed. "Then I don't buy you any needle and thread and stuff to make your clothes with. I won't buy any sheets and towels, or any washboard. All I'll do is to send Smith to get some ham once in a while, and some flour."

"But yourself," she said, airily. Then, setting her jaw and drawing her lips into an obstinate line, she moved a pace or two ahead of him.

He made no effort to catch up, but plodded along over the soft earth, whistling an old tune. They continued so for more than a mile, marching with Nadine in advance.

"Mr. Bodey," she said, abruptly, as they climbed a fence. "Who is Smith?"

"A luncheon of a boy," he answered. "But who is he? Is he a relative of yours?"

"Thank fortune, no."

"Why do you keep him with you?" She edged closer, and her tone was confidential.

"Fate, my dear young woman. Fate. The same fate that has made you and Pierce my guests."

She put her hands on his sleeve: "Is Smith a prisoner, too?"

He passed his fingers across his mouth as if to wipe away a smile. "I'm afraid of Smith's running off," he said.

She walked on, thoughtfully, a dozen paces. "Why do you talk so sloppily, part of the time, and like an educated man the rest of the time?"

"Pure carelessness," he said. "I say

"Pure carelessness," he said. "I say

"Pure carelessness," he said. "I say

"Pure carelessness," he said. "I say

"ain't because it slips out easily. It's lots more comfortable to be careless, Miss Rollins. And his smile was useful—I haven't been talking with many educated people lately."

"I'll bet you've got into some ghastly trouble," she said, with a wise little nod. "I'll bet you've been going to some place to another, hiding. And I'll bet this boy Smith is your fellow-criminal. Why did you call yourself 'Brown' when you rented my grandma's place?"

"So they wouldn't know who I am," he replied. "That's easy." She was still walking close to his side, and he glanced down at her. "There's a thing that interests me," he went on. "You take your situation so—well, so comfortably. Sometimes it looks to me as if you enjoy being kidnapped."

"It's an adventure," said she, "and it's so thrilling! I'd like to escape, of course, but nothing ever happened to me in my whole life before that was exciting. And now, here I'm a captive maiden in a tower, and you're the wicked baron, and Smith is the brutal warder—it's like a book, Mr. Bodey. And I expect that there are people hunting for me. Don't you suppose there are?"

"I'll say so! Wish I'd subscribed to a newspaper. We could read the gory details."

"Oh, won't you?" She patted her hands together. "Do you suppose the police have theories, and everything? Is my picture in the paper, do you think?"

"Absolutely. And interviews with your father and mother, likely enough."

Her face fell at this. "Poon-daddy," she said. "Mama will feel pretty badly, too, but she's a strong-minded woman, you know. I suppose daddy has cried about it by this time. Mama won't cry. She'll stride up and down. Nadine sighed heavily."

"I'm sorry, too," he said. "Mr. Rollins is a mighty nice man. I hate to do anything to worry him, but it can't be helped."

They were coming into view of the Sherwood house, and Bodey stopped a moment to look carefully up and down the dirt road which stretched beyond.

"Nobody in sight," he said. "Guess young Pierce hasn't escaped, or Smith would be hopping around the yard."

"Charles's people will be worried, too," Nadine surmised.

"Likely they'll think that you and he eloped, when he doesn't come home to-night," Bodey suggested.

The girl considered this possibility, and found it not disagreeable. "It does sound like a romance, doesn't it?" she said. "And when we come back, and they find out that we've both been prisoners, won't it make a wonderful sensation?"

"Wonderful," said he. "I'm sorry I shan't be there to enjoy it."

"Maybe you will," said she. "Maybe you'll be arrested."

"All things come to him who waits," he quoted. "Maybe I'll get to be president, too, some day."

They were coming up behind the Sherwood house. The two old horses came to the back fence and watched them approach, and stretched their heads forward as the girl extended her hand to them. She stroked the soft muzzles.

"This is the first time I ever touched a horse," she said. "They don't bite, do they?"

"Not unless they're hungry," he informed her, gravely. "But they've had their hay. Let's ramble inside and see how your friend and Smithy are getting along."

BEDTIME STORY

Uncle Wiggily's Moss House

Copyright, 1927, by McClure Newspaper Syndicate.

By HOWARD E. GARIS

"Well, well! I wonder who lives here?" asked Uncle Wiggily, himself one day. He had been hopping through the woods, looking, as usual, for an adventure and, all of a sudden, down in a little dingy dell, he saw a bubbling spring. The rabbit saw a tiny green house.

"It is made of green moss," said Mr. Longears, still talking to himself as he hopped nearer. "My, what a cute little house! I must find out who lives in it; perhaps it is the home of a green fairy."

The house was about half as large as a roller skate without the wheels.

He walked on, thoughtfully, a dozen paces. "Why do you talk so sloppily, part of the time, and like an educated man the rest of the time?"

"Pure carelessness," he said. "I say

Took A Friend's Advice And Found Relief

Mrs. A. Morash recommends Dodd's Kidney Pills

"For over a year I suffered great pain," writes Mrs. A. Morash of West Dover, Halifax Co., N.S. "I could hardly walk for pains in my back. A friend told me about Dodd's Kidney Pills. I bought a box and before I had it half used, I got relief. I have not had a pain in my back since and can recommend them to everybody as a sure relief for backache."

Dodd's Kidney Pills strike right at the seat of the trouble, the kidneys. They are no cure-all. Just simply and purely a kidney remedy.

"This is very queer," whispered the rabbit uncle.

The top and sides were made of soft, green moss such as always grows in the forest. The little green moss house had tiny doors and windows, and for a chimney the empty shell of a periwinkle. But now no smoke was floating out of this queer, tiny chimney, so Uncle Wiggily guessed that no one was at home in the moss house.

Hopping nearer, but taking care not to bump against the little house for fear he might topple it over, Uncle Wiggily knelt down and looked inside. He saw that the moss house was filled with furniture made from tiny acorns.

"The Stars incline, But Do Not Compel"

(Copyright)

MONDAY, JUNE 13

Venus dominated this day in benefic aspect, according to astrology, but there is an adverse influence.

This is read as pre-eminently a day for lovers and engagements may be made while this rule prevails.

It is prophesied that the Summer will be a period of most extraordinary romances in which age is not less vulnerable than youth, where cupid is concerned.

Weddings that take place under this planetary rule should be fortunate in so far as lasting love is to be considered, but there may be many quarrels.

Complex motives and a love of excitement will be revealed in many a heroine of romance, who enthralled a suitor, the seers warn.

Under this configuration there may be a strong conflict between sentimental and practical considerations, but temporarily at least, romance will prevail, it is forecast.

Women may expect success from enterprises pushed to-day, which should be especially lucky for club work of every sort.

This should be a favorable way for theatres and those who are employed in them. Dramatists also should benefit.

New uses for motion pictures are prognosticated. They will become a factor in international affairs, it is prophesied.

Cooks and cooking are well directed to-day when food is to be of more than usual interest and prices in certain places will ascend.

Astrologers have been foretelling for distant quarters of the globe famine and pestilence, in places which will require aid from this country.

Persons whose birthdate it is may have much happiness through the love of relatives and friends this year.

Children born on this day may be endowed with many talents. Singers, musicians and actresses are born under this sign.

Composer (to singer): "Have you ever heard my new piece?"
Singer: Oh, yes, years ago, but it wasn't yours then."

The Royal Australian Air Force recently completed a ten-thousand-mile trip over the Pacific Islands.

Luxton

Luxton, June 13.—The entertainment held in the Luxton Hall June 10, under the auspices of the Metchoshin Farmers' Institute was a success. Upwards of 150 people were present. H. G. Pierce, chairman, called upon the president of the institute, C. E. Whitney-Griffiths, to welcome the guests of the evening, the members of the Farmers' and Women's Institutes of Saanich, in the name of the institute.

A splendid programme of entertainment was presented, being opened by a pianoforte solo by Len Acres, which was very much enjoyed. Duetts by the Misses Eileen and Audrey Bennett, two of Victoria's talented vocalists, drew rounds of applause and repeated calls for encore. Miss Eileen Bennett also giving a delightful solo. Miss Mary Higgs sang very pleasingly, and Little Miss Babe Pollock delighted the audience with Highland dances, accompanied by Pipe Major Cameron on the bagpipes. Miss Marian Elin kept the gathering pleasantly entertained with charmingly rendered humorous recitations and the programme was brought to a close with clever and amusing conjuring and sleight of hand tricks by Frank Merryfield.

A vote of thanks to the artists was moved by J. S. Yates, seconded by Major T. Godfrey, and carried with hearty applause by the gathering. Supper was served by the ladies of the Luxton and Happy Valley Women's Institute, to whom the directors of the Farmers' Institute expressed their gratitude for their splendid co-operation, and the evening closed with a dance to the strains of Len Acres orchestra.

Metchosin

Metchosin, June 13.—A joint meeting of the Metchoshin Farmers' Institute and the Metchoshin Women's Institute will be held in the local hall on Wednesday evening, June 15, when an address on "Citizenship" will be given by Miss Gildes, to be followed by a social hour and refreshments. All are welcome and it is hoped that there will be a good turnout on this occasion.

A Martyr to Rheumatism Finds Relief

I-ON-A-CO.
1113 Government Street,
Victoria, B.C.

Dear Sir,—

Since last October I have been a martyr to rheumatism. My foot was so swollen I was unable to wear a shoe and I could not lift my right arm as high as my head. After spending one month in hospital without receiving any benefit, I was convinced that my case was hopeless. A friend of mine told me that she had been relieved by the "I-ON-A-CO" Belt. I have been taking one treatment a day with the "I-ON-A-CO" Belt for the last month, and I can honestly say that the rheumatism is greatly relieved, and I now do my household duties, tend my chickens and water the garden without effort. Also I sleep much better, and my general health is greatly improved. I enclose my address so that anyone wishing to corroborate these statements may do so.

Yours sincerely,

F.M.S.

QUEEN CHARLOTTE ISLANDS INTRIGUE VACATION PARTY

By WILLIAM BRANDON

We had intended to leave at once for Prince Rupert, but the ticket agent told us that our boat would not be leaving for three days. He said that we might travel via the Queen Charlotte Islands. We laughed at the suggestion. The Queen Charlotte Islands? Who wanted to go there? There was nothing there but two or three white people and Indians. The agent told us he had been there, and went on to say that "the scenic beauty is unsurpassed, and the steamers call at many interesting places." Being quite ignorant of the geography of the Queen Charlotte Islands, we decided to visit them while we had the opportunity, and over to Ocean Falls and used as pulp. The air is alive with mosquitoes. Huge ugly insects they are. We quickly scout downstairs after getting two nasty bites.

Sandspit, on the very north of Moreby Island, is our next stopping place. This is the only farming settlement on the whole of Moreby Island. Here apples, pears, cherries and other small fruits are raised successfully, as well as excellent potatoes. One farmer possesses a very fine daffodil farm, which rivals any I have seen in Victoria.

Leaving Moreby Island we cross Skidegate Inlet, a distance of seven miles and stop at Skidegate, on Graham Island. There really are two Port Clements is quite deserted at present, but in previous years boasted a lumber mill. This northern end of Graham Island possesses the best timber on all the Queen Charlotte Islands group. Only recently 300,000 feet of spruce were purchased by an American firm which very soon plans to cut and export this huge quantity of spruce. It is already being loaded for the export of way for the railway they are going to build to bring the logs out.

We now set off for our last calling place on the islands, Naden Harbor. We sail north again out of Massett Inlet and proceed westward some ten miles to Naden Harbor where we see another whaling station. This station, as well as the one at Rose Harbor, is operated by the Consolidated Whaling Corporation of Victoria, B.C. Naden Harbor, possibly due to its northerly location, does not catch as many whales as Rose Harbor. In 1925 there were sixty-nine whales caught by the Naden station while Rose Harbor had 180. There are only several bags of mail to put off and away we go again, eastward for Prince Rupert.

We are sitting on the deck of the Prince John crossing Hecate Straits. It is half-past nine at night, and the sun is just beginning to set. And what a sunset! Just to see the magnificent rainbow colors spread over the horizon is alone worth the trip. The Queen Charlotte Islands are quickly disappearing, and as we take our last look at them we wonder why it is that we know so much about the charming islands. Our visits to the various ports have consumed but two days, yet we have indeed profited by our experience; and in the hopes that what we have seen may prove of interest to others who have not had the good fortune to visit these "Wonder Islands" we have related just what we have seen.

Deaths in Auto Smash in Ontario

Toronto, June 13.—A partial list of fatalities in Ontario over the week-end shows seven dead and three injured, automobile accidents being the chief cause.

At Bromley, near Shelburne, Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Graham were instantly killed and one of their daughters, Mrs. Betty, died last night, the result of a collision with a car. The mother was crossing, and their son, another daughter, and a grandchild were seriously hurt. The son may die.

William Katis, nine, was fatally injured when he was struck by an automobile yesterday and died in a hospital last night. Thomas Purdin, driver of the car, today is out on $10,000 bail.

Francis J. Wood, a painter, fell off a ladder yesterday and was killed. Byron Reynolds, fifty-two, a farmer, was killed when he was struck by a car today in Pictou yesterday.

There is also at Queen Charlotte a large saltery, owned and managed by Japanese. This plant salts both

SUBSIDY OPPOSED
In his annual address President Strange objected to proposals that the Federal Government should subsidize seed growers. He preferred some system whereby the product of the expert grower should be identified, enabling such growers to benefit from public demand for his output of quality.

President Strange pointed out that the commercial seed growers can only stay in business when an adequate profit is earned, in this regard being on a different status to that of Governmental experts in charge of experimental work and inspection services.

TRIBUTE TO LEADERS
"There is no question that the high place Canadian seed growers hold abroad is due, in no small degree, to the fact that the producer has had, for many years, seed of superior pedigree. These have allowed the Canadian farmer to compete in world markets despite the higher Canadian scale of living and production costs," said President Strange, when paying a tribute to the past work of past presidents and officials of the association. He considered questionable whether such high grade seeds would have been available for the two murdered men, except for the vision and enthusiasm of the first officials of the association.

President Strange considered Dr. James Robertson, former president and later president; Dr. Zavit, vice-president, and later president, and L. H. Newman, long secretary of the Canadian Seed Growers' Association, deserved well of the people and Government of Canada, and on motion of W. G. F. Warren of Bellevue, Saskatchewan, this position was unanimously awarded to the Hon. W. L. Mackenzie King, Premier of Canada.

MUCH WORK DONE

The directors' report, presented by Secretary-treasurer Peter Stewart of Ottawa, gave the following data as to plant crop and seed inspections during the year.

Fields inspected, 2,205.
Wheat, 19,511 acres, yielding 1,599 bushels, quantity seed inspected and sealed, 85,801 bushels.
Oats, 5,076 acres, yielding 257,387 bushels, quantity seed inspected and sealed, 34,792 bushels.
Barley, 2,341 acres, yielding 94,275 bushels, quantity seed inspected and sealed, 15,535 bushels.
Corn, 286 acres, yielding 3,605 bushels, quantity seed inspected and sealed, 170 bushels.
Alfalfa, 2,809 acres, yielding 350,161 pounds, quantity seed inspected and sealed, 219,832 pounds, this being a record production.

The Canadian Seed Growers' Association has now 635 members, distributed as follows: Prince Edward Island, 14; Nova Scotia, 9; New Brunswick, 13; Quebec, 43; Ontario, 106; Manitoba, 38; Saskatchewan, 173; Alberta, 238; British Columbia, 9.

PROUD OF HONORS

The directors were proud of the return to Canada of the championships in wheat and oats, as a result of "the outstanding performance of a comparatively young member, Herman Treile, of Wembley, Alberta." In addition to the championships in wheat and oats, Canadian exhibitors captured, at last year's international hay and grain show, one hundred other awards, including premier awards for wheat, oats, two classes of peas, alfalfa and timothy.

The convention supported recommendations by the directors of the effect that a larger grant from the Dominion would enable the association to materially increase its services to the agriculture of the Dominion. Production and distribution of registered seed would be endangered by curtailment of the present activities of the association.

Support was also accorded a resolution which expressed concern over omission of the association's initials from the new tag to be placed on containers of registered and extra No. 1 seed. This practice has been in effect for twenty-five years and continuance will be sought.

The convention favored increases in Federal aid to enable the association to pay traveling expenses of directors summoned to directors' meetings.

FRANK CRITICISM

When discussing the directors' report, Prof. R. Summerville of Quebec questioned the efficiency of the association's work in seed production. He referred to the low percentage of wheat, oats, barley and corn inspected and sealed, as compared with the high percentage of alfalfa.

R. H. Galbraith of Vulcan, and J. J. Steele of Lloydminster, discussed this matter, giving data as to the amount of seed sold from acreage registered, without awaiting final certification.

Seed Inspectors J. E. Blackman and G. M. Stewart showed that much grain failed to earn certification because of appearance, last year's Alberta experience with wheat, under conditions being cited. Prof. Summerville presented data covering field crops for four years, all showing similar differences between registered and small certified seed output.

PRICE FACTOR
Dr. R. Newton of Edmonton considered that good seed not registered was not lost, being eagerly sought by farmer neighbors of the producer, the price being lower than for seed sealed and registered. L. B. Robinson, representing the Canadian seed trade, corroborated this view.

President Strange pointed out that the product of registered acreage makes no money for the grower unless sold as sealed and registered seed. The seed has costs great sums to produce, and the two cents per bushel charged for sealing gives prices sufficient to pay numerous expenses of the grower, who sells seed without registration at a lower price, is giving his labor for less than a fair return," he urged.

MAY WIDEN MEMBERSHIP

H. E. Halliwell of Victoria criticized limitations of membership, and was informed that charges are being considered, to enable a greatly widened field of activity, embracing all Canadian seed growers, in better crops and agriculture.

HEALTHY FINANCES

The financial statement showed receipts of $17,276, including a Dominion grant of $9,999.99. The balance carried forward to 1927 was $1,331, an increase of $755 from the cash in hand from 1926. The accounts were received with little comment, after Treasurer Peter Stewart had reported the bank balance at June 1 to be $1,292.

FAMPHLET PUBLICITY

John Buchanan of the Ontario Agricultural College reported by letter on the display by plant breeders at the Royal Winter Fair, preferring preparation of an illustrated booklet to repetition of the display. This proposal was referred to the members of the plant breeding committee in attendance at the convention. Prof. Summerville being named chairman.

The following committees were appointed by President Strange: Revision of by-laws: M. P. Tullis, Kirtley, R. D. Kirkham, Sattcock, H. Clark, Ottawa; P. Stewart, Ottawa. Resolutions: Dr. Robert Newton, Edmonton, chairman. Publicity: Executive council and secretary. Membership: R. D. Kirkham, Cecil Tice, Victoria; W. H. McGregor, Prince Edward Island.

A reward of $1,000 was offered by the Government of Manitoba to-day for the capture of the killer and his accomplice, to meet to-night to consider the advisability of adding to the amount.

SCORE OF MURDERS

A moral degenerate, the "gorilla man" sought for the killing of a score of women in the United States, including slayings in Chicago and "Paoli" Coast cities, is held responsible for the two murdered women, according to a statement made to-day by the Winnipeg police.

Last Friday Mrs. Emily Patterson, twenty-seven, was strangled to death in her home in Elmwood, a suburb of Winnipeg.

Yesterday afternoon the body of a fourteen-year-old girl was discovered in a rooming house on Smith Street, near the centre of the business section. After remaining unidentified for several hours, it was ascertained the girl was Lola Cowan, who had been missing from her home since last Thursday.

The girl left her home early Thursday evening. A few hours later she was strangled to death and the body, nude, was placed under the bed in the rooming house and covered with some of the bed clothing. With the remaining clothes the bed had been neatly made up. The coroner stated death had occurred four days before the body was found.

between the parties is maintained when the returns are complete. Thus, the prospect of a coalition government is still being considered. President Cosgrave and the other ministers however, decline publicly to discuss such a contingency at the moment.

Among the notable defeats in the election is that of Mary MacSwiney, an ardent Sinn Féin leader. Terence MacSwiney, lord mayor of Cork, died in jail after an extensive hunger strike during the disturbed period preceding organization of the Free State was a brother-of-hers.

In Peter Hughes, who held the Defence portfolio. President Cosgrave, Vice-President O'Higgins, James Burke, Lord Government Minister, and Desmond Fitzgerald, Minister of External Affairs, came through with little or no trouble. Valera had a lead of 8,000 votes in his constituency in Clare.

WOMAN ELECTED

In the list of successful Fianna Fail candidates is Countess Markievicz. She was the first woman ever elected to the British House of Commons, but never took the seat. She was sentenced to death for a part in the Dublin revolt in 1916, but the sentence was commuted and she subsequently was released.

Those elected in Dublin country include the prominent Republican leader Sean McNeele and Tom Johnson, the Labor leader. It is thought Johnson may lead a larger number of followers in the new Dail than in the previous Parliament as the Laborites elected at least sixteen as compared with fifteen in the last Dail.

Dan Breen of Tipperary, well known Republican extremist, was defeated. Among the women defeated were Mrs. Henry of the Guinness firm, in North Dublin, and Mrs. Guinness in Dublin.

MRS. O'DRISCOLL ELECTED

Mrs. Collins O'Driscoll, Government party, North Dublin, was also elected. Michael Collins, a well-known leader in 1922, was a brother of hers.

Still other victorious women candidates were Mrs. T. Clarke, Fianna Fail, North Dublin, and Mrs. W. J. Tom Clark, the Republican leader, who signed the Easter, 1916, proclamation, and Mrs. Brugha.

The election will be held under the proportional representation system. This explains the slowness of the count.

Rowboat, cutter, swimming races, log-rolling contests, surf-board riding, and a host of original features have been prepared for the event. Great interest will centre around the Vancouver Island logging championships, which will present log-rolling and log-cutting by experts from many up-island camps. Coach Dan O'Sullivan of the Victoria boys are getting into trim now for the hardest effort of their lives.

that she should have $20, and advanced Kean, who he believed to be a gentleman who wished to support his wife, $25 to make the first payment.

If any person or persons were given money by Mr. Bird as agent or the husband with the husband's authority and the husband present.

Mr. MacNeill recalled the police and county court proceedings under the Deserted Wives Maintenance Act, where Mrs. Kean told her action for desertion. It was shown, he said, that Mrs. Kean received money from her husband up to April, 1926, and between that time and January, 1927, when she started police court proceedings, received nearly $500 from the sale of her husband's property. In the five weeks prior to the proceedings in the county court she received $500, which instead of keeping she used to make an instalment on a house in Point Grey.

Mr. MacNeill argued for the admission of new evidence, including affidavits of Kean and Albert Gerald Hodgson, solicitor for Mrs. Kean.

School Girl's Nerves

Lost year's time from school with St. Vitus' Dance.—Completely restored by Dr. Chase's Nerve Food.

The anxiety and strain in connection with school life and examinations are too much for many girls who are naturally of a nervous temperament or have become so as a result of anaemia or a run down physical condition.

Nervous conditions are most difficult to overcome and there seems to be no remedy to compare with Dr. Chase's Nerve Food to restore exhausted nerves. Children's health responds quickly to this well known restorative treatment.

Mrs. George A. Moot, St. Anna, Lincoln Co., Ont., writes:

"Our daughter, who was never very strong from birth, at nine years of age became all broken down, suffering from what the two doctors we consulted called 'Midnight Walk,' which was caused from over-tax at school. She seemed to show

Street. He had proceeded along a trail through the brush for about ten yards when he came across the body. The police were notified at once and Detectives Knox and A. G. McNeill responded to the call.

On reaching the scene the officers found the body lying face upward. Blows delivered with some heavy instrument had battered in the left side of the face and head. The clothing on the body was disarranged and one garment was torn. Belief the woman was criminally assaulted before death is voiced by the police.

CLUB FOUND

A short distance from the body was found a heavy block of cedar firewood, tapered toward one end, making an effective weapon. This was spattered with fresh blood. Continued investigation resulted in the finding of a silver ring lying in a fold of the clothing and a cigar butt and a brown silk handkerchief near the body.

From the condition of the body it was concluded death had occurred about 2 a.m. Sunday.

The block was one of the most important business and residential buildings in Timmins.

The body of Oke, a clothing salesman, was found in a room in the building.

Miss Mary McKewen, a school teacher, suffered a fracture of one arm, lacerations of the face and other injuries when she fell to the sidewalk from a third-story window.
